STILL GREATER BATTLE NEAR IN EASTERN AREA

FRENCH DIE IN THE RUINS AS GERMANS TAKE FORT

ALLIES' BATTLE LINE NOW 180 MILES LONG

London, Oct. 6.—(1:09 p. m.)—Never since its start has the battle of the Aisne which has now become virtually a siege of the German positions on the Oise and north of this river, shown such a dearth of news as on this twenty-fifth day of the struggle.

The British information bureau never very diffuse, completely closed down on current events from the front several days ago and it will not continue until Sir John French, the commander of the British expeditionary force, puts the machinery in motion again. The reticence of the Paris official communication last night was even more marked than customary. It furnished no inkling of what had happened after the Germans "had forced the French to yield ground at certain points" on the all-important western wing.

Today there was a break in the silence to record the fact that the allies have greatly extended their battle line and that the great conflict is continuing with undiminished fury.

It is argued here that intermittent variations are inevitable and not necessarily important in such a hard fought combat, throughout which given positions are taken and re-taken and taken again many times.

That the allies, for the moment possess greater mobility than do their foe seems to be indicated by the news that they have been able to raid the German lines of communication, cut a railroad and destroy a train belonging to the artillery of the German imperial guard. This is a hint borrowed from the Russians, whose flanking methods appear to have contributed greatly to the reported German undoing in the eastern war arena. As the enormous wastage in horses progresses, it is claimed for the allies that their possibilities for such movements will increase while those of their opponents decrease. German cavalrymen on bicycles already are a common sight and the Russian advance which is cutting Germany off from the horse producing districts of Hungary must, if maintained, further increase the shortage in mounts.

GRATIFYING TO GERMANS.

Performance of Kaiser's Warships is Surprise to Berlin.

Berlin, Oct. 6.—Press matter derived from official German sources today says:

"Surprise generally is expressed at the amazing activity of the German cruisers stationed abroad. Though it was generally expected that the vessels would fall easy victims to British warships within a fortnight after the declaration of war, Germans now are astonished to learn from reports in the British and French press of the damage they are doing to the merchant marine of the enemy.

"The Goeben, Breslau, Emden, Karlsruhe and the Leipzig are the names of the German vessels, whose successes have caused the liveliest satisfaction in Germany. In addition the cruiser Scharnhorst and Gneisenau stationed in the Pacific, are reported to have been busy in the vicinity of Tahiti, Society Islands, where they succeeded in destroying the gunboat Zelee.

The attempts of the powers composing the triple entente to force the opening of the Dardanelles have failed. The

Man Who Sentenced Labor Heads Quits

JUSTICE D. T. WRIGHT.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Associate Justice Daniel T. Wright, of the District of Columbia, against whom impeachment charges are pending before the house judiciary committee, today sent his resignation to President Wilson to take effect Nov. 15. The charges filed by a Washington banker alleged official and personal misconduct. Justice Wright attracted nation-wide attention several years ago by sentencing Samuel Gompers and other labor leaders to jail for contempt of court.

Today's War News Given in Summary.

The official silence maintained for the past 12 hours over the operations of the allies in northeastern France was broken today by the official statement from Paris. This set forth that the left wing of the allied army was extending more and more widely; that strong forces of German cavalry had appeared in the vicinity of Lille, in the department of Nord; that between the Somme and the Oise there had been alternate advances and withdrawals and that a German attack near Lassigny had failed. North of Soissons the allies have advanced. The rest of the front shows no change.

The disclosure that the operations on the western end of the great battle line have reached the vicinity of Lille places the Germans in strength at a point easily within ten miles of the Belgian frontier. Taking Lassigny as the elbow of the French battle line, it now extends roughly for eighty miles due north and for considerably over 100 miles from Lassigny to the eastward.

No confirmation has come from any German source of the reported removal by Emperor William of Field Marshal von Moltke from the post of chief of the German general staff and the succession by his son-in-law, Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria.

The Japanese navy department in explaining the occupation of the German island of Jaltut, one of the Marshall group in the South Pacific, declares that the move was made for military purposes and not for permanent occupation.

French troops are well established in Alsace, according to a news dispatch from Belfort, France, and the German forces before them are not numerous. Another newspaper correspondent telegraphs that the French are fortified in excellent positions in the Vosges.

A second Russian army is now threatening the town of Huzst, in eastern Hungary, according to a news dispatch from Rome. Huzst is 40 miles from the boundary of Galicia which is here the crest of the Carpathian mountains.

The day so far has brought no news from the scene of operations in the eastern area of the war along the German-Russian frontier, where a battle of vaster proportions than the one in northeastern France is said to be about to begin. Emperor Nicholas is at the Russian front and the impending combat may become of supreme importance.

Twenty-four American nurses and six doctors, members of the Red Cross units, assigned to Russia, are at Stockholm, Sweden, on their way to Petrograd.

A force of ninety architects and 3,000 workmen stands ready in Paris to go forth into the war zone to repair damage by shell and flame.

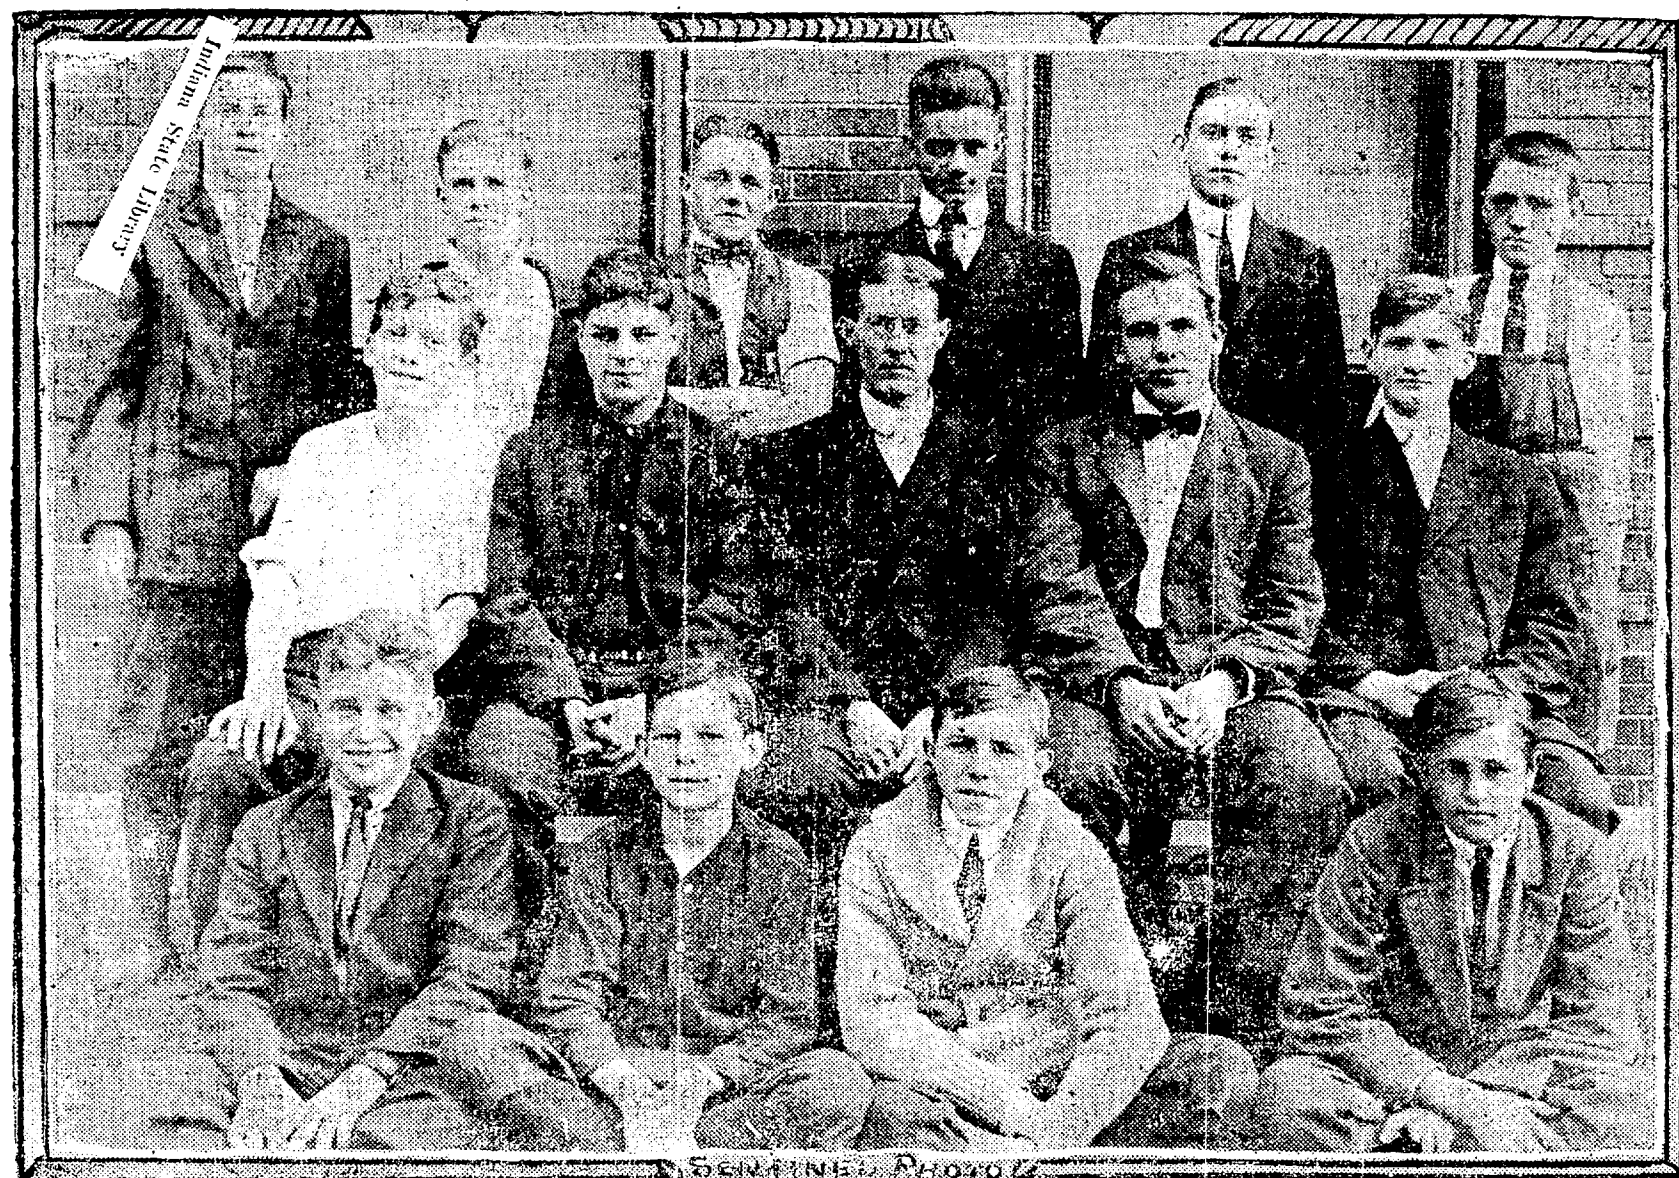

JAPAN WILL NOT VIOLATE PLEDGE

Washington, Oct. 6.—Japan has no design to violate in any sense the undertaking she gave at the beginning of the war to confine her military operations to the far east, the Japanese embassy announced today and the landing of Japanese blue jackets on Jalut island, one of the Marshall group of German Pacific islands, is regarded at the embassy here as fully within the scope of the pledge. Without direct advice from Tokyo on the subject the officials are confident that the purpose of the Japanese landing in the Marshall islands was to protect commerce; a privilege specially reserved in the Japanese undertaking. It is known that Jalut had been made a base for German cruisers in the South Pacific, which were preying on British and Japanese commerce. It is said, too, that large quantities of the supplies had been gathered by the German government.

BIDS FOR BATTLESHIPS.

Washington, Oct. 6.—The Newport News Va. Ship Building company at $7,115,000 and the New York Ship Building company at $7,175,000 were the two lowest bidders today for the construction of the two 22,000 ton battleships to be built for the navy this year. Each company bid for one ship only.

In the olden days boys had to be "devils" before they could become printers. Now they learn the art in vocational schools and this shows. Prof. Persa R. Bell and the first class enrolled in Fort Wayne. It was the duty of the "printer's devil" of the old days to open the office of mornings, build fires, sweep out, wash the rollers and learn to smoke through the medium of the foreman's pipe.

The equipment in the Washington vocational school is being arranged and soon will be in active operation. It is expected that about twenty to twenty-five boys will start at the trade and that a little later on much of the school printing will be turned out of the office. The first "job" has been secured and it consists of getting out some programs for the parent-teacher club of the school. The length of the course has not been determined but it probably will be three years.

AMERICAN UNDER ARREST RELEASED

London, Oct. 6.—(2 p. m.)—George S. Sheets, a racing man who said he was in the employ of W. E. D. Stokes and who was arrested by Scotland Yard detectives on the charge of carrying letters between London and Berlin, has been released at the request of the American ambassador. He will sail for New York tomorrow. Sheets was in charge of a racing stable at Vienna and when the war began he came to London. Subsequently he made several trips to Berlin which attracted the suspicion of Scotland Yard. Sheets, on being arrested had in his possession letters addressed to persons living in Germany. An agreement was reached with the British authorities to release him as the result of Sheets' promise that he would sail immediately for the United States.

RUSTEM KEEPS THEM GUESSING

New York, Oct. 6.—The whereabouts of A. Rustem Bey, Turkish ambassador to the United States, and his plans for returning to Europe caused considerable speculation today at the office of the Turkish consul general here. Rustem Bey came to this city last Saturday from Washington with the announced intention of taking a boat for Europe but at noon today no accommodations were reserved for him on any outgoing steamer.

Rustem Bey engaged passage on the Sant Anna for Naples yesterday. The Sant Anna was due to sail this afternoon. Later in the afternoon the Turkish ambassador returned to the steamship offices and cancelled his booking. Still later in the day Rustem Bey came back for the third time and re-engaged passage. This morning he cancelled his passage again.

On his visit to the steamship offices he was accompanied by A. McAllister Smith, who said he expected to accompany the Turkish ambassador on the trip.

PLEAS OF NOT GUILTY.

Wisconsin University Students Will Fight Rioting Cases.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 6.—Pleas of not guilty were entered in court today by four University of Wisconsin students and four town boys charged with rioting in last night's disturbance on Capitol square, when 2,000 students made an attack on the police station where three of their fellows were incarcerated. Others arrested will have a hearing tomorrow.

Mayor Kayser says if the police department is unable to check such riots other forces more powerful, meaning the militia, can be invoked to protect the peace and quiet of the city.

BROKEN LEG BARS HIM FROM WORLD'S SERIES.

New York, Oct. 6.—James C. Smith, third baseman of the Boston National league club, broke his leg above the ankle in sliding to second base in the ninth inning of the first game of the "doubleheader" here today. He will be unable to play in the world's series. Deal, Whitford, Dughey, will probably play in Smith's place during the series.

LAST-MINUTE NEWS

Photographed, Oct. 6.—The following statements were given out today at Russian headquarters:

"The Russian offensive campaign continues. The fortified positions of the enemy on the frontier are under a heavy artillery fire. The enemy has received reinforcements from the German army at Koenigsberg. There has been particularly desperate fighting in the vicinity of Baranovsk.

GERMANS REPULSE RUSSIANS.

London, Oct. 6.—(3:47 p. m.)—According to a message from Buda Pest, says the Reuter correspondent at Amsterdam, the battles with the Russians who entered Hungary have not yet been definitely concluded, but the Russians have been repulsed at a point to the northwest of Maramorosze and at Tarozko. German troops participated in the fighting.

ATTACK ON ANTWERP SLACKENS.

Bordeaux, Oct. 6.—News described as "most encouraging" has been received here today from Antwerp. It is said that the German attacks on this place seem to be slackening somewhat in intensity.

It has been announced here by a credible authority that Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty is now at Antwerp consulting with the Belgian general staff.

SECOND AMERICAN SOLDIER IS SHOT

Naco, Ariz., Oct. 6.—Private Leroy Bradford, of troop G, 10th United States cavalry border patrol, was struck in the breast today by a bullet fired from the trenches occupied by troops of Gen. Hill, defending the town of Naco, Sonora, from the attacks of Governor Maytorena. Bradford was in a trench dug for the protection of the American troops on the border line. His wound is said to be serious.

Bradford is the second United States soldier to be struck in Mexico since the outbreak of the revolution. The first was Private William J. Smith, of the same regiment, who was killed in the same town, Naco, on Sunday. A boy was hit in the hand by a stray bullet yesterday. Two cavalry horses also have been shot. This loss on the non-combatant side is almost as great as that suffered by the contending Mexican forces.

SUPPLY STORE IS BURNED.

Union Miners in Ohio Sustain Severe Loss During Strike.

St. Clairsville, Ohio, Oct. 6.—The union miners' supply store at Piquette, near here, was destroyed by fire early today with a loss of $20,000, the second time since the coal strike began seven months ago. The second store of the building was destroyed by a second fire. The store was a valuable source of supplies for the miners. The store was owned by the Piquette Coal and Coke Co. and was a member of the United Mine Workers of America.

EYES NOW TURN TO RUSSIAN FRONTIER

London, Oct. 6.—10:10 a. m.—So far as London is concerned for the past twelve hours, news has been contraband of war. When the embargo is lifted the public expects tidings of great moment and there is a distinct tendency to optimism regarding the nature of the revelations. The French ministry of war, in explaining the necessity for the official communications being laconic, states that it is useless to be more explicit since battles are not finished. The authorities know that the conflict will be tedious and prolonged before a decisive result is obtained.

Even the small relief afforded by the news of great activity in the east, sent out yesterday ceased today and the iron enclosure of the censorship has extended to the region where, throughout the war, news of the military operations have been more accessible than in any other theater of the warfare.

Victory for one side or other along the Russian frontier is of supreme importance, and the tremendous battle impending there may mark the climax of the war.

The military experts are beginning to appreciate the fact that the attack now being made on either flank of the western army are not entirely turning movements which depend for their effectiveness on speed and surprise. Little evidence of either has been shown on the allies' left. If, however, the Russians win a great victory in the east, it will compel the Germans to divert some of their western armies in that direction and the flank movements will become crushing attacks which will crumple up the depleted German lines.

On the other hand if the Russians are the victims of a severe reverse, some of the veteran German corps will be released for service in the west and the Germans may pierce the numerically inferior allied line. Whichever side can extend its line farthest without weakening its front ought, according to the experts, to win the battle of the Aisne. Hence the crucial importance of the battle on the Russian frontier.

The battle line along the Russian border is not continuous but the intervals separating the various armies are comparatively small gaps and the whole territory along the frontier from Tilsit, on the northeast border of Prussia, to Dukla pass, in the Carpathians, bristles with arms.

No battle front extends beyond Dukla pass but small mobile Russian forces are covering the plain of Hungary. The longest continuous German line extends from Dukla pass to a point almost on the Vistula river, a short distance from Warsaw. This is composed of the armies which swept over Galicia and is now the instrument of the projected invasion of Silesia.

New York, Oct. 6.—At the first rehearsal of the orchestra and the symphony of New York yesterday, Walter Damrosch, the conductor, admonished his eighty-five musicians, representing thirteen nations, that war arguments are not productive of harmony. The musicians were told to remember that patriotism and bravery, culture and civilization are not confined to the countries of their birth; to be thankful that they are in a peaceful country and to permit themselves to be moved to pity instead of anger.

NO ABATEMENT IN FURY OF STRUGGLE

Paris, Oct. 6.—7:01 a. m.—Despite the official announcement yesterday that the allies had yielded somewhat, confidence today in the ultimate success of the French and English in the great action on the left wing of the battle front in Northern France has by no means diminished. Meanwhile without repose and with no sign of a truce the tremendous battle of millions of men is going on, each side trying by every possible means in their power to gain the advantage.

North of the Oise has appeared for the first time in a war office statement. Till now all the combats fought on the right bank of the Oise river have been mentioned either in the region of Roye or between the Somme and the Oise. There is much speculation on the phase of the fighting in that vicinity which can have a greatly varied importance.

The military critics, among them Lieut. Colonel Rousset, of the Petit Parisien, refuses to attach any importance to the set-back or to the yielding of territory, declaring them to be the inevitable retreats that can be offset by a progressive movement. He cites the fact that Napoleon Bonaparte at Marengo had to retreat three times in the face of the Austrians which did not prevent him from finding there one of his most brilliant victories—as well as one of the most profitable.

The familiarity of the French with the territory is frequently of considerable advantage to them. The marshes of Saint Goud, near the Petit Marne river, are perfectly solid in the dry season and the Germans here had made all preparations for an important surprise attack. The night before this was to pour a heavy rain which made the swamp a lake and turned the position to the disadvantage of the Germans. The French merely stuck to their positions and while the enemy was in distress in the soggy ground annihilated large numbers with their artillery fire. The digging of false trenches and all kinds of efforts which will redound to advantage are being resorted to by one side or other.

The lists of dead printed in the news papers are growing. They sometimes furnish the only news of the soldiers since their departure to the front. A force of ninety architects and engineers and 3,000 workers is ready to repair the damage in the war zone.

URGING CONGRESS TO ACT PROMPTLY

In Purchase of Monticello as Virginia Home of Presidents.

Washington, Oct. 6.—In official circles today the hope was expressed that congress would act promptly on the letter of Representative Jefferson M. Levy, of New York, owner of the Monticello home of Thomas Jefferson, to Secretary

Bryan in which he said he would consider an offer of $500,000 from the United States government for the state. Mr. Bryan it was said, would refer the communication to congress at once. Mr. Levy in his letter stated he always had abhorred the idea of Monticello becoming a "mere museum."

"I have maintained it," he wrote, as a home—the home of Thomas Jefferson—and if I am to part with it I should like that thought to be retained. Make it the home—the Virginia home—of the presidents of the United States and maintain it for their occasional occupation and I would be content."

Mr. Levy also said he had added to the 218 acres he had purchased until the original acreage of more than 700 had been restored. He added he had spent one million dollars on the estate. The movement for the acquisition by the government of Monticello began several years ago.

GERMAN CAVALRY IN STRONG FORCE

Paris, Oct. 6.—(2:04 p. m.)—The following official communication was given out in Paris this morning:

"On our left wing the front is extending more and more widely. Very important masses of German cavalry have been reported in the environs of Lille, coming from forces of the enemy which are making a movement in the region to the north of the line between Tourcoing (in the department of Nord, seven miles northeast of Lille) and Armentières (nine miles northwest of Lille in the vicinity of Arras.) On the right bank of the river Somme, the situation shows little change. Between the Somme and the Oise there have been alternate advances and withdrawals. Near Lassigny the enemy undertook an important attack which, however, failed.

On the right bank of the Aisne, to the north of Soissons, we have with the co-operation of the British army, made a slight advance. We have also made some progress in the vicinity of Berry-au-Bac.

Mrs. D. F. Sieling is also back and she states that she suffered no inconvenience other than that she remained longer than she expected on account of interrupted train service, due to mobilization and moving of the soldiers.

Liber Parole says that President Wilson's example could well be imitated by France.

If peevish, feverish, tongue coated, give "fruit laxative at once."

No matter what ails your child a laxative should be the first treatment given.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign your "little one's" stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in just a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children need to be coaxed to take this harmless fruit laxative. Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

11 Chronicles 5:12-20.

12 And he stood before the altar of the Lord in the presence of all the congregation of Israel, and spread forth his hands:

13 For Solomon had made a brazen scaffold, of five cubits long, and five cubits broad, and three cubits high, and set it in the midst of the court: and upon it he stood, and kneeled down upon his knees before all the congregation of Israel, and spread forth his hands toward heaven,

14 And said, O Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee in the heaven, nor in the earth; which keepeth covenant, and sheweth mercy unto thy servants, that walk before thee with all their hearts:

15 Thou which hast kept with thy servant David my father that which thou hast promised him; and spakest with thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine hand, as it is this day.

16 Now, therefore, O Lord God of Israel, keep with thy servant David my father that which thou hast promised him, saying, There shall not fail thee a man in my sight to sit upon the throne of Israel; yet so that thy children take heed to their way to walk in my law, as thou hast walked before me.

17 Now then, O Lord God of Israel, let thy word be verified, which thou hast spoken unto thy servant David.

18 But will God in very deed dwell with men on the earth? behold, heaven and the heaven of heavens cannot contain thee; how much less this house which I have built!

19 Have respect therefore to the prayer of thy servant, and to his supplication, O Lord my God, to hearken unto the cry and the prayer which thy servant prayeth before thee:

20 That thine eyes may be open upon this house day and night, upon the place whereof thou hast said that thou wouldst put thy name there; to hearken unto the prayer which thy servant prayeth toward this place.

Vocational Training.

Vocational training in the Fort Wayne city schools has just been augmented by the addition of a department of printing, and as a start some twenty boys are being given instruction in the elemental phases of the printer's craft under the direction of a union journeyman printer. That the classes will increase rapidly we have no doubt, and while it is not to be expected that the vocational school will turn out finished workmen, the instruction is going to be of tremendous value to the boys, whether they shall elect to follow the printer's trade or not. It is certain to give them a grasp of English construction, of capitalization and of punctuation that we do not believe is to be acquired in any other manner.

The Sentinel is much gratified to see the development of the vocational training idea in the Fort Wayne schools. It is the natural outgrowth of the more circumscribed manual training development launched some years ago, and which has proven both fascinating and helpful to hundreds of Fort Wayne boys as they were nearing the close of school training. Vocational training is placing new emphasis upon the necessity for the best possible equipment with which to meet the situation the boy must face when he "strikes out" for himself. We do not believe these later days have sufficiently impressed the value and the importance of a trade to the boy who must win his own way. The tendency has been too much toward either the professions or to that sort of hit-and-miss existence that hopes to connect with a "job" of some sort or other that will provide subsistence without the necessity for training. Nothing could be more precarious than the lot of the untrained man in these days of tremendous competition. Every boy should have a definite calling in which he may specialize and develop. The skilled workman has infinite advantage over the man without a trade. There has been too pronounced a tendency on the part of the oncoming young man to yield to the lure of some avenue of employment that promises immediate financial returns without requiring the service of especial apprenticeship or preparation. When it is too late to begin anew he realizes the unstable and insecure character of his choice. Vocational training represents a new conception of the state's duty to its youth in an educational way. It will cost money, but it is worth it, and it will be a tremendous mistake if the schoolboys—and the schoolgirls as well—of these days do not take the fullest advantage of the opportunity thus held out to them.

The National American Woman Suffrage association is preparing a magnificent eight-reel moving picture production which will be shown during the coming months in the campaign for votes for women. Really, the ladies who have been accused of knowing little of the ways of politics seem to have hit upon an effective campaign stunt that will make mere man turn green with envy because he didn't think of it first.

The treasury department has issued a statement carrying the interesting information that there is at present $3,694,748,196 of money in circulation in the United States. Doubtless the census department will now supply you with information enabling you to make the computation to discover for yourself whether you are in possession of your pro rata share of this rather sizeable fund.

Those two thousand Allen county voters who failed to register will appreciate the real extent of their civic delinquency when they are denied the privilege of casting a ballot in November, but they really haven't anybody to blame but themselves.

WORLD'S MOST TERRIBLE EXPLOSIVE AND MAN WHO INVENTED IT.

Amazing tales are going the rounds about the latest death dealing explosive, invented by M. Turpin of melinite fame. "Turpinite," as the mysterious composition has been called, is said to have been used by the French in the recent fighting with such devastating effect that "whole battalions of German infantry have been found dead in their trenches, standing bolt upright and still holding their rifles in firing attitude, as though suddenly petrified." Its manufacture is reported to be taking place at a special factory in the suburbs of Paris, the shells being "finished off in a private laboratory by M. Turpin and two assistants working behind locked doors." Also a special big gun is said to be required, worked by M. Turpin's employees. It is claimed by the inventor's friends that a single fifty-six pound shell "is able to kill and, so to speak, petrify every living thing in a space of 400 square yards." Horses and sheep, the story goes, were experimented on by exploding a charge near them; the hapless creatures dropped dead on the spot the instant the "turpinite" went off. The "petrifying agent consists of fumes which spread rapidly."

PRESS COMMENT ON WIRELESS CONTROL.

"Private Correspondence." Boston Advertiser:—"The United States has, if it desires to assume such power, the right even to inspect the private correspondence of any person in this country if there be adequate proof that such correspondence is specifically violating the neutrality of this country."

"Make an Example." Cleveland Plain Dealer:—"When one is found violating neutrality and proves not amenable to suggestion, nothing remains but to make an example of him. And the example should prove beneficial all around."

"Reassuring." Syracuse Herald:—"It is reassuring indeed to know that there will be no war between the Marconi company and the United States government on the moors of eastern Nantucket."

"No Favorites." Minneapolis Journal:—"The president has been playing no favorites in this matter of censorship, and he has no time to waste over the legal technicalities of radio messages."

"Judgment of Courts." Pittsburgh Dispatch:—"The question whether the use of the Siasconet property in sending or receiving certain kinds of messages is a violation of neutrality seems to us especially subject to the judgment of the courts."

"Doing Its Duty." Springfield Republican:—"The government is doing its duty in meeting its neutral obligations, and it will be interesting to observe if the courts will venture to limit the president's power to prevent a wireless company from handling messages from a belligerent cruiser at sea."

"In No Sense Judicial." Boston Post:—"The enforcement of neutrality is in no sense a judicial function; it cannot be subjected to revision by any tribunal; it is regulated by administrative authority alone."

"If Unrestrained." Detroit Tribune:—"The radio message goes out into the ambient air and is there for the hearing of anybody. If unrestrained by a censorship one can imagine what use of it could be made by a belligerent."

JOHN WANAMAKER HOPEFUL.

(Brooklyn Eagle.)

The Eagle cordially commends the following words of John Wanamaker to those who are thinking and talking of the present business situation:

"This condition is only temporarily. We can shorten it. It is our duty not to talk down, but to talk up. We must first get ourselves into an optimistic frame of mind for the man who is discouraged can discourage the man who is next to him."

That is a good gospel, especially of service now. The man who tries to make political capital by attributing hard times to the other party is not showing patriotism. The fact is that we are suffering with the rest of the world from conditions which we have had no part in creating.

The fact is that this present period in the United States, if there had been no European war, would nevertheless have been a period of business and financial adjustment, owing to new tariff and taxation and banking legislation. With that war going on, adjustment is slower and more difficult.

here. But the United States is healthy at the core, and not all the pessimism in the world can long delay a great trade revival, owing in part to the grasping of new markets, which war has made possible.

How Famous Actresses Banish Superfluous Hair

Betty Lorraine, the popular actress who won fame in "The Little Parisienne" and other Comedies, writes: "Theatrical women are now using a remarkable prescription that acts like magic in curing all trace of unsightly hair growths. It is Mrs. Osgood's Wonder. Unlike the electric needle, it can be used with perfect safety. Unlike evil-smelling depilatories, it doesn't burn the skin. I used it first over a year ago and have not had a trace of superfluous hair since."

Mrs. Osgood's Wonder is quite inexpensive and is sold by Mayer Bros. Co. and other up-to-date drug stores. Sixty money-back guarantee in every package.

BRITISH AIDING JAPS IN CHINA

English Participate in Bombardment of German Territory.

Peking, Oct. 6.—A communication received here from a German source in Tsing-Tau, the fortified position in the Kiaochow territory, sets forth that in a German sortie last Friday night the Germans lost one man killed and three wounded, while twenty-five Germans are missing.

The British battleship "Triumph," according to this same information, has participated in the bombardment of Tsing-Tau. A German torpedo boat, which was recently engaged with the Japanese, has returned to the harbor undamaged. The German gunboat, Jaguar, was slightly damaged.

Information has been obtained from a reliable source that last night the German authorities gave instructions for the destruction of all railroad bridges and stations still under their control along the line running east and west through Shan Tung province. The Germans endeavored further to transfer all the rolling stock of this line to the Tien-Tsin-Pukow road, but the Chinese board of communication issued instructions to prevent such transfer.

The Russian government it is related here, has undertaken to find capital for the Chinese government for the construction of a railroad line from Harbin to Blagoveshchensk, with a branch to Tsitsihar in Manchuria.

A recent dispatch from Tokio said that in a surprise night attack against the Japanese the Germans had 48 men killed. This same dispatch said that four Japanese shells had struck the German gunboat Itis, a sister ship of the Jaguar, which retired to the inner harbor after the exchange of shots.

MAY HAVE RESIDED HERE.

Nanticoke Foreigner Who Ran Amuck in Big Fight There.

The belief is expressed by the police department of Fort Wayne that Peter Durdich, who became crazed and ran amuck with a razor in Nanticoke, a mining town in the Pennsylvania anthracite region, seriously injuring half a score of men before he was subdued, once resided in this city. He is believed to have been one of a mob of foreigners who became drunk and in a Polish wedding on Buchanan street two or three years ago, and engaged in a desperate battle with knives in which several men were badly injured. The man at Nanticoke gave his residence as Fort Wayne. It is probable that he merely is one of numerous foreigners who have worked on construction gangs or at the rolling mills here.

Adolph Schilling has gone to Philadelphia to attend the annual convention of the Greenhouse Vegetable Growers of America.

"Ghost Gown" Not Popular in Paris

This gown was not designed for a Halloween celebration, though the weird, ghost-like figures suggest a "phantom" party. It is one of the models sent out by Dracoll of Paris just before the war storm broke out and it was designed for a Parisian society woman who is now so busy doing Red Cross work that she has no need of attention gowns.

Black satin is the foundation beneath the gown and the blouse is also of black satin.

FINDS FOR CITY IN LIGHT SUITS

Court Holds the Injunctions Were Sought Too Late to Stand.

In the circuit court Tuesday Judge John W. Eggeeman handed down his decision in the suit of Frank L. Wilt and others and the trustees of the Plymouth Congregational church against the city for a permanent injunction to restrain the city from collecting the assessments made for the ornamental lighting system on Harrison street and Calhoun street, south of the railroad. Judge Eggeeman held that the city had a right to assess for the poles, but for no other part of the installation, and that by law it had no right to assess for else than the poles. But he held also that the plaintiffs had not appealed against the assessment by remonstrance within the ten days fixed by law and that thereby they had forfeited their right for court to an injunction to restrain collection. He said that the course should have been by direct attack and not by collateral attack—that is to say, by remonstrance within the legal period fixed by law and not later by process of injunction. The effect of the ruling will be that the property owners will have to pay the assessments made, though they were not asked from the bench by the court. The victory is an important one for the city, because had the plaintiffs won the decision similar suits would doubtless have been brought by all the assessed property owners assessed for ornamental lights on Harrison, Calhoun, West Main and Columbia streets. Suits for a modification of the assessments are pending in large numbers in the courts.

NOTES OF THE COURTS.

In the superior court Tuesday Edward Toner was admitted to the bar. He had a diploma from a law school and was examined by a committee composed of Samuel Morris, Jr., H. C. Hogan and William H. Shumbaugh. He will practice in Fort Wayne.

The damage suit of Frank Ochman against the Lake Erie & Western railroad has been dismissed in the superior court.

Charles E. Stuck has filed suit in the circuit court against William Stuck, Sr., and Nancy B. Stuck to quiet title to real estate.

FIRST ROAD FOR SCIPIO.

Dean Ellison Gets Contract for First Highway of System.

The board of county commissioners on Tuesday awarded Dean Ellison the contract for constructing road No. 1 of the Scipio township system of improved highways and in many respects it will be one of the best roads in the county. The Scipio township road election was carried by a good majority and the contract just will inaugurate construction of the system voted on. The road will have a length of 10,560 feet. The width of the roadway will be forty feet and the width of the roadbed twenty-eight feet. The specifications call for twelve inches of stone—in three layers—the first four inches to be one-half to one inch and one-half inch broken stone, the second four inches of one-half to one inch and one-half inch broken stone and the third to be of screenings and gravel. The road will be two miles in length. The bids were as follows: Dean Ellison, $12,375; Charles W. Ellison, $12,440; J. W. Summers, $13,087; Erie Stone company, $13,399. The engineer's estimate for the road was $13,360.55. The cost per mile on the Ellison bid will be $1,170.50 per mile.

OPTION ELECTION NOV. 4.

The county commissioners on Tuesday morning fixed the date of the local option election in Washington township for Wednesday, Nov. 4, following the general election. The same polling places will be used, thus sparing some trouble for preparation for the election. The people of Washington township are determined that now the infamous Hiser road house has been put out of business that for two years at least there shall be no serious threat of reopening it.

The work of the trio was highly commended and a number of engagements will follow.

Eight years old on Monday was the reason little Hulda Lena Irelan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Irelan, of Anthony boulevard, entertained a company of small friends in the evening at her home. The yard in the rear of the residence was lighted by electric lights so that the children could play games, swing, visit and altogether have all the fun they wanted. Besides the moon did her best to light up the scene and help the children have a good time. A birthday cake and other nice refresh-

KEEP KIDDIES WELL DRESSED ON SMALL ALLOWANCE

THE PINAFORE FOR LITTLE MISS MADE OUT OF BIG SISTER'S DISCARDED GOWN.

(By CAROLINE COE.)

Children must go to school, even though half the world is at war, and they must be neatly dressed, even though "mother's" allowance is cut down and the buying power of money greatly reduced.

Under these circumstances "mother" very wisely looks over the clothes left from last year to see if there isn't something that can be remodeled into pinafores, waists or little skirts for the children's school wear.

It is very easy to make a little Oliver Twist costume out of old material. The top of an old navy blue skirt that is ragged about the bottom can be made to do duty for the skirt, and the simple, little, white or gingham waists can easily be fashioned from old blouse waists. The "style" of these dresses is in the short, double-breasted waists to the skirt. The skirt is buttoned.

The children were dressed in this fashion in the time that Dickens wrote his immortal stories. Consequently they are dubbed Oliver Twists.

The Pinafore.

These little dresses may be made from "big sister's" discarded gowns. They are made in a kind of pinafore style, with a long waist belted about the hips. They are made with very large sleeve holes and a deep point in front and back. This is worn over a white gimp which allows the wearing out of all the half-worn waists.

An old black serge skirt with a white

blouse and bright red tie would make "little Miss" eight-year-old look as though she had a new dress straight from the best child's dress-maker in town.

Using Two Materials.

Two half-worn waist dresses may be made into one pretty, little frock for a schoolgirl by combining part of an old gingham gown with another of white. The illustration shows the quaint way in which the gingham is used.

This way also makes the dress keep clean longer.

Boley-Ball.

Rev. Dr. A. K. Zartman officiated at the marriage of Miss Josephine Ball and Mr. John M. Boley on Monday evening at 8 o'clock, at the parsonage of Grace Reformed church. The bridegroom is a cigarmaker. The bride and groom both live in Erie street.

TO OPEN NEW DANCING STUDIO.

Ross Franklin to Be Assisted by Miss Larimore in the "Casino."

"Ross Franklin, who has been a leading pianist for Marion dances for a number of years, will leave Monday for Fort Wayne, where he will have his own dancing academy, to be known as the "Casino." The Casino was formerly known as the Harker Dancing academy. The new Casino will be formally opened next Thursday evening. Kent Gage, harpist, will assist on the opening evening. The regular orchestra for the academy will be Ross Franklin, pianist; Frank Wilson, of Alexandria, who will play the drums; Henry Simon, well known violinist, and Clarence McCleery, of Muncie, saxophone. Mr. McCleery played with the Bohunir Myrll band. Miss Muriel Larimore, of Fort Wayne, has been engaged as instructor of the modern society dances. Miss

THE ORPHEUM.

"TREY O' HEARTS."

Fourth Installment of Serial Today at Orpheum.

"Dead Reckoning," the fourth installment of the thrilling spectacular serial, "Trey O' Hearts," will be the attraction at the Orpheum today.

In the last part of the third installment, Alan and Barcus, the skipper, escaped from the burning yacht by swimming ashore. The opening of the fourth installment finds them exhausted on the beach. Rose is taken from the hotel in Portland and rushed aboard the fishing schooner where Judith looks her in a stateroom. Having made Rose secure, Judith takes the fishermen and goes ashore to get Alan and Barcus. But the men see the party coming and hide. While the party is some distance inland, the two men come out of their hiding place and steal the fishermen's boat and go to the schooner in which they endeavor to escape. Judith and the fishermen break into a life-saving station and take a launch and try to overtake the schooner. The remaining chapters of the installment are among the most spectacular ever filmed.

A Victor drama, entitled, "The Proof of a Man," with J. Warren Kerrigan in the leading role, will also be on the program today. It is a story full of heart interest telling the love story of a gang leader and a cripple and shows that even a cripple can rise to the strength of true manhood. The program tomorrow consists of an Belair drama, entitled, "The Line Rider," with Edna Payne and Robert Frazer heading the cast and "The Baseball Fans of Fanville," a Joker comedy. Pleading music will be rendered by the orchestra and Miss Lyons soprano.

Beginners' Dancing class forms Wednesday, 8 p. m. Trier's, Minuet.

AT THE JEFFERSON. ROBERT WARWICK.

Famous Legitimate Star Today and Tomorrow in "The Dollar Mark."

Robert Warwick, debonair, dashing, acting with a fiery ardor that exhilarates, comes to the Jefferson today in the first of the Shubert and Brady releases, "The Dollar Mark." This thrilling drama, depicting life in the rough Cobalt country and in the fashionable salons of Newport, is the George Broadhurst masterpiece that carried Warwick through several successful seasons some years back. The dramatic heights reached in several passages of the story thrill the onlooker with the power of their sheer force; the sustained potency of this film-story being one of the most distinguishing features; it is all too seldom that we find such plot coherence and clarity exhibited in film-drama, and the high dramatic pitch maintained throughout "The Dollar Mark," distinguishes this as one of the most singular successes of the season. The circumstances are productive of some of the most thrilling situations ever incorporated in a drama of this nature. Each thrill is succeeded by another of tender nature, while the final denouement is a superb piece of acting.

MISS LARIMORE, class in fancy dancing Friday, 4:30 p. m. 220 W. Berry street.

AT THE MAJESTIC. Sousa and His Great Band Wednesday, Matinee and Night.

The Sousa library is the accumulation of thirty years or more, a getting-together of the greater and lesser products of composers of all time an degrees, from the first down to the last. Nobody knows how many arrangements there are, multiple parts of each composition, but the number is so great that several large music rooms are required to house them. It may be inferred from this that when John Philip Sousa squares himself to make out programs for a tour, he has a colossal undertaking before him.

It left altogether to his own inclinations it is possible that Sousa would serve very little except of the highest and best, but inasmuch as the people come to his concerts with their diverse tastes to be gratified, he is compelled to approach as nearly as possible to a point where he pleases the preferences of the majority. In accomplishing this, Sousa has for years proved himself past master.

Sousa and his band will appear at the Majestic on Wednesday, matinee and night, in a delightful program. The special soloists are Miss Virginia Root, soprano, and Miss Margaret Gluck, violinist, and Herbert L. Clark, cornetist.

AT THE TEMPLE. Musical Stars Coming.

Recently there has been a trend toward the more refined in vaudeville entertainment. Some have declared that there is no place for the classical on the American variety stage; people, they say, don't appreciate the high qualities of art. They want the melodramatic and slap-stick kind, but Guerrero and Carmen, who are slated for an engagement at the Temple Thursday, in a high class musical act offering violin and harp solos and duets, are prepared to illustrate that art not only is tolerated in vaudeville but that it is popular and in demand. Schooled under the direction of some of the best masters in Europe, both Mr. Guerrero and Mlle Carmen have been educated to the highest there is in music and their entertainment is selected from the most excellent classics. Three brilliant seasons in vaudeville and a demand for their act which cannot be met, is evidence of their exceptional success in American vaudeville.

Coffee Hurt You?

No need to get mad now, tear up the paper, or shout "nonsense, good coffee never hurt anyone." You know better than that, for you can point out all around you folks who are the worse for coffee's slugging.

Think over a few coffee-drinking friends and casually enquire if they are entirely and nervously well and just how coffee treats them.

If it hurts others isn't it just possible—? Catch the drift, don't you?

It's a Poor Bargain

to swap health and a clear, business-like head for a few cups of coffee each day.

Every coffee toper tries to wiggle round and charge his aches and ills to weather, overwork, too much or too little food, this, that or the other thing, but how he hates to admit that the real enemy is his Master, coffee.

A Sure Personal Test

will locate the exact cause of your steady destruction of health, if that cause be coffee. It's worth knowing the plain, sober fact before organic heart trouble or other disease sets in, which perhaps cannot be cured.

The test is pleasant, accurate and satisfying—

Quit coffee absolutely for ten days and in its place use POSTUM.

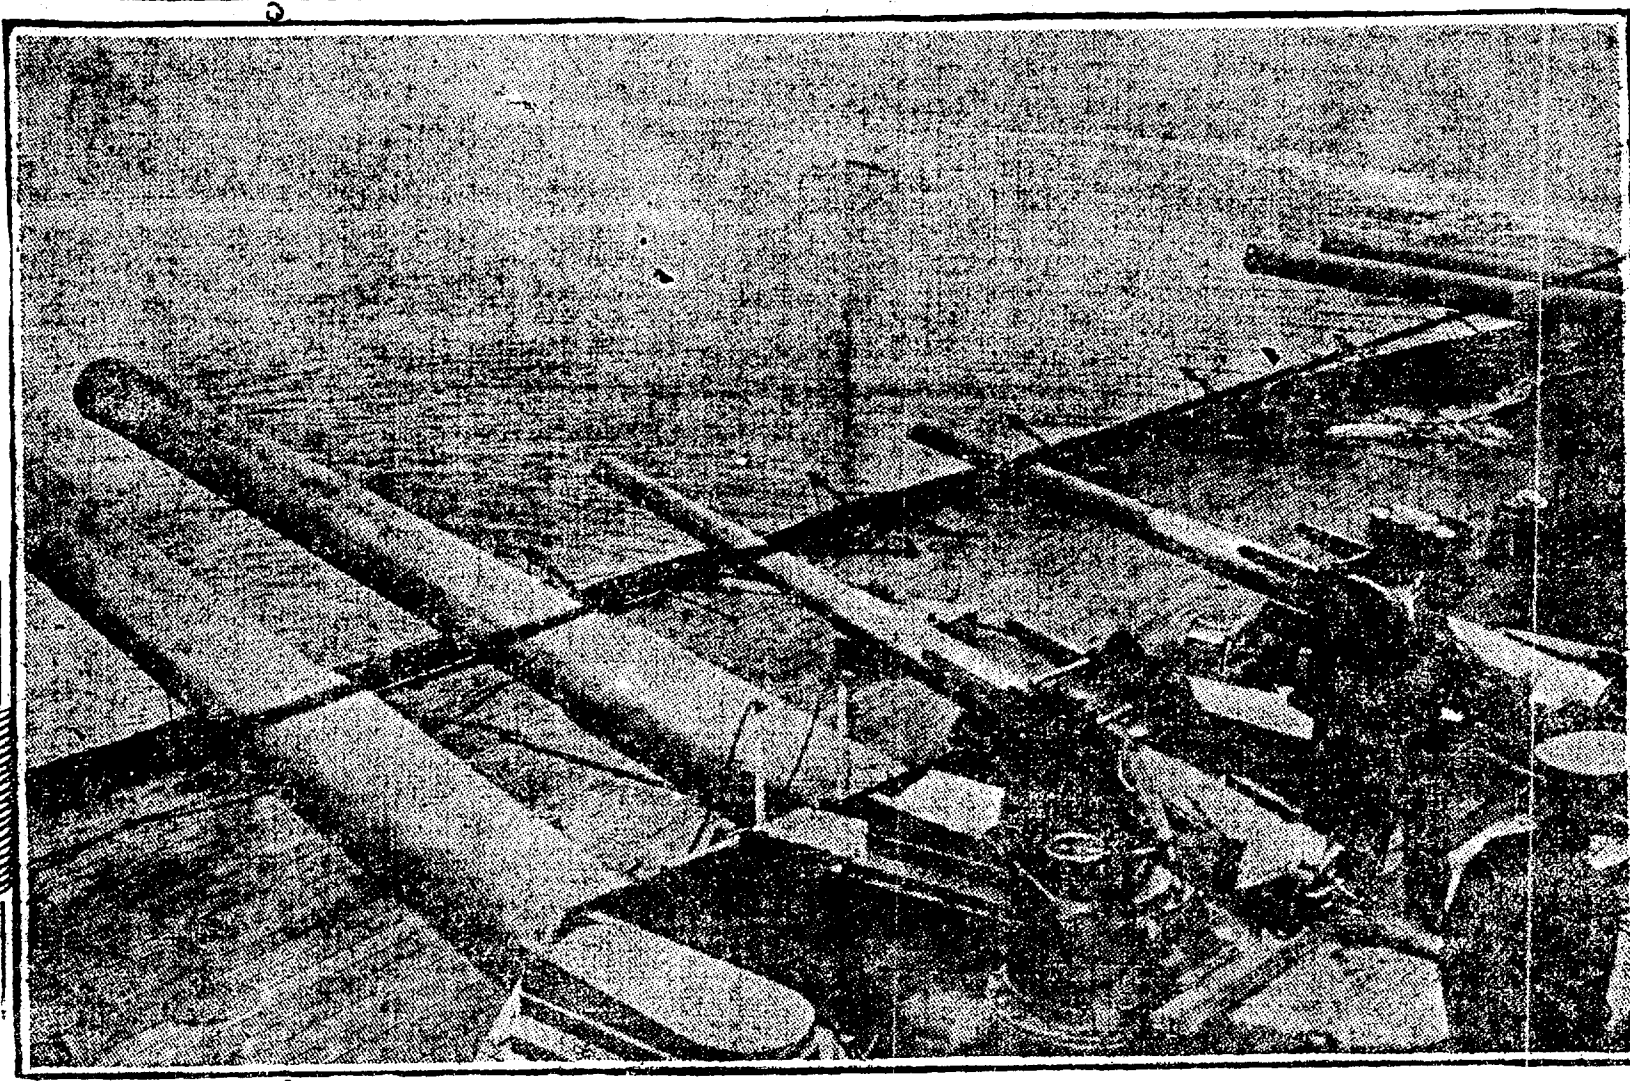

Postum now comes in two forms. Regular Postum must be boiled. Instant Postum—soluble form made in the cup instantly, with hot water. Both kinds of this famous food-drink have the color and flavor very much like the high grades of Old Gov't Java.

If in a few days you begin to sleep soundly at night, digest your food better, stomach and bowels show signs of recovery, or the old feeling of weakness at the heart leaves, or head works clearer, the ails of coffee drinkers are multitudinous; the facts will be before you, and

You Have the Answer—

POSTUM "There's a Reason"

BIG GUNS OF BRITISH WAR SHIP READY FOR ENEMY TO APPROACH

BRITISH DREADNAUGHTS IN NORTH SEA READY FOR ACTION

Above is shown the big guns on one of Britain's dreadnoughts now lying in the North Sea ready for an attack by the German fleet. Travellers arriving in London from Kiel state the canal is crowded with German war ships, including the largest battle ships, and that the arsenal is busy day and night. Trains are continuously carrying large guns to the canal for the big German cruisers and dreadnoughts to complete the armament of these great sea fighters, which England believes will soon engage the British fleet in a big open battle.

TOTAL WILL BE ALMOST 21,000

Unofficial Figures Show
Heavy Allen County
Registration.

Late Tuesday afternoon sixteen of the boards from Fort Wayne and Allen county had failed as yet to make returns of the registrations Monday and no figures were available from Madison township. Without these it is shown that 10,510 voters registered bringing the total for the two days to 20,686 with the possibility that they will reach 21,000.

This is allowing slightly less than 400 in Madison. The total voting strength of the county is estimated by people in position to know at more than 22,000 and if this is reliable there are nearly a thousand who have been disfranchised by their failure to register.

There is also the possibility that some of the precincts held over Tuesday which is permissible under the law on petition of three free holders and seven voters but if this action was taken in any of the polling places no notice was sent to the auditor. The petitions are valid when presented to and granted by the boards and no appeal to any other officers is required.

Former official registration figures have been destroyed as it is not required under the law that they be kept longer than sixty days after the election for which they are taken is held, but official comparisons show a slight decrease.

There was no trouble reported except in the first precinct of the first ward where a dispute arose when W. J. Swaidner objected to closing the books.

37 DAYS IN FIGHT
WITHOUT A PAUSE

London, Oct. 6.—(8:40 a. m.)—The correspondent of the Daily News at Copenhagen telegraphs the following:

"Vivid accounts of the fighting appear in the German newspapers and the writers admit that the situation is desperate."

"The Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, describing the frontier fighting in the Vosges region, says:

"The officers and men have been fighting day and night for thirty-seven days and the Germans are facing a difficult strategic situation in the mountain districts, where they are rendering superhuman services, chiefly in water filled trenches and under almost undecipherable conditions."

"The strain is said to be almost unendurable. The French are fortified in excellent positions on the Vosges and it is impossible to see their guns. No German troops have been able to retire from the fighting line for rest."

"The army chaplains accompany the troops right to the front and are holding religious services and preaching sermons in the trenches."

"Bad weather is causing much sickness."

"According to Buda Pest advises the capture of Marmaros-Seigot, capital of the Hungarian county of Marmaros, has necessitated the removal of the government of that department to Huzel, 23 miles west-northwest of Seigot. A second Russian army now threatens the latter city and reinforcements are being hurried up to check the Russians' advance."

Marmaros, the county in Hungary which the Russians have invaded through the Carpathians passes, is in the northeast, bordering on Galicia, Bukovina and the Transylvania.

INQUIRIES ABOUT DIRIGIBLES.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Inquiries are being sent out by the navy department to builders of airships as to their preparedness to construct dirigible balloons if the navy should decide to adopt that kind of air craft. No bid have been asked for, as it has not yet been decided that the navy which up to the present has confined its aerial work to aeroplanes, is ready to turn to dirigibles. Officials desire to ascertain, however, what may be expected of American airship builders in the way of quality, size and price.

Ben Hutner, his son, will be placed in charge of the new place of business.

This new firm will open the new store with a determination to stay and will operate it in such a way as to please the public. The exact date of the opening can as yet not be determined.

WOMAN IS FINED.

Goldie Smith, the woman arrested near Mayville, where she had been consorting with men of the neighborhood, was arraigned for drunkenness before Justice Crabner Tuesday and fined $1 and costs. Other charges were dismissed. She is aged 33 years, and says her home is in the state of Washington.

The social committee of Fort Wayne lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F., has decided to hold the first reception and dance of the season on Tuesday evening, Oct. 27, when all members and their families will be entertained in the social rooms of the lodge.

GIVE WARNING
TO MEXICANS

Washington, Oct. 6.—Brigadier General Bliss, commanding the American troops on the Mexican border, expressed the opinion in a dispatch today, that Gov. Maytorena's assault of Gen. Benj. Hill, the Carranza leader in Sonora, would not occur within a week, though Maytorena's forces invest the east, south and west of Naco.

Gen. Bliss added that Col. Guilfoyle, the American commander opposite Naco, has the situation well in hand, that warning has been given to the Mexican factions not to endanger American life and property by their fire.

Reports to the Spanish embassy from Mexico City today gave assurances that Spanish citizens there no longer were in danger from constitutionalists. Previous to the entrance of the Carranzaists into Mexico City, decidedly pessimistic messages were received in Washington and Madrid and it was feared the Spanish colony would suffer. Consular Agent Walls, however, has established friendly relations with the new authorities and secured satisfactory guarantees. Officials at the embassy stated that toward further reports of indignities against priests had been received, it was known that the constitutionalist program of elimination of foreign clergy was being consistently tried out.

SEEKING TO CHECK
RUSSIAN ADVANCE

London, Oct. 6.—8:25 a. m.—Speaking of the Russian invasion of Hungary a dispatch from Rome to the Exchange Telegraph company says:

"According to Buda Pest advises the capture of Marmaros-Seigot, capital of the Hungarian county of Marmaros, has necessitated the removal of the government of that department to Huzel, 23 miles west-northwest of Seigot. A second Russian army now threatens the latter city and reinforcements are being hurried up to check the Russians' advance."

DIDN'T HAVE GREEN CAP.

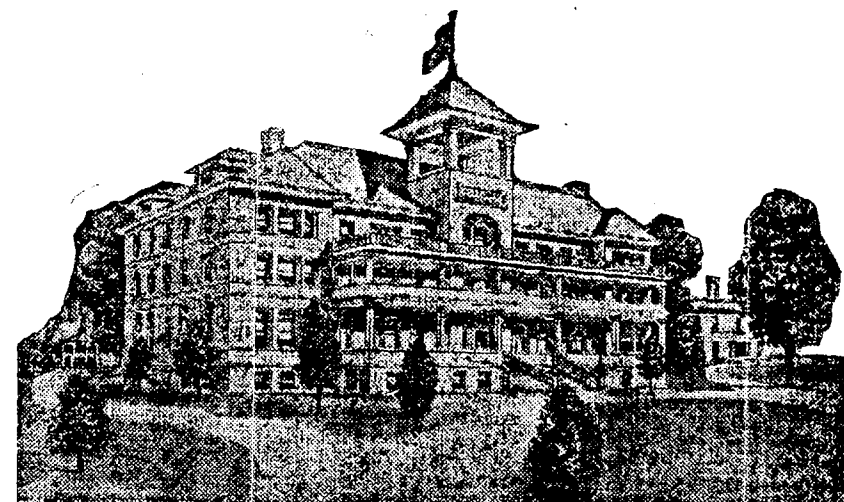

Error By University of Wisconsin Student Causes a Riot.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 6.—Students of the University of Wisconsin tried to throw a town boy into Lake Mendota last night, mistaking him for a fellow student and precipitated a street fight in which 300 students battled with as many citizens for hours. For an hour the city fire department poured streams of water into the crowd without dispersing the fighters.

C. R. VanHise, president of the university, gave bond for the four students who were arrested and addressed the 1,500 students who surrounded the police station, finally persuading them to return to their homes. Hundreds of windows, including nearly all in the police station, were broken. The students whose mistake started the fight, said they attempted to discipline the town boy because they mistook him for a freshman without his green cap. Custom at the university decrees a green cap for freshmen.

MAPLETON SQUAD ASKS BIG MONEY

Friars Have to Guarantee Opponents $150 to Secure a Game.

Mapleton comes a little bit high but going back to a phrase that has been taking the rest cure for a long time, "we must have 'em."

In order to get this aggregation for its opponents on Sunday next the Friar football team was forced, or rather asked to guarantee $150 for the game and rather than put on one of the scheduled games, the high priced aggregation has been booked.

No other than your uncle Charles Carr, big league switcher, American association manager and hitting star and Federal league first baseman attached to Bill Phillips' band of runners-up, also originator of the winter training school idea, is backing this Mapleton squad.

"Honest John," the Friars don't want a game like they had with Huntington, but football clubs have to be accepted on their recommendations, especially at this time of the year because the independents have gotten a good start and are not on their regular stride.

In booking this aggregation assurance has been given that a football club that can play the game up to the standard demanded by the patrons here will be sent to Fort Wayne and every effort has been made to insure against a repetition of the opening event.

Joe Clark, star halfback, has been coaching the team and says he will have it in shape for a bruising battle against the Friars and he has had experience enough to know when he has a good team. He will be the umpire in the Sunday game.

In the meantime the Friar troupe has gone hard work before it. Beginning at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night the coaches put the players through a hard drill which will be one of the four booked for the week in preparation for the Mapleton game. Then men showed well in the first game but they are not getting more good out of one night than they formerly got out of half a dozen.

Cooler weather is promised by the weather bureau and the men will be glad to see it as the warm nights have been hard on them, although conducive to the reduction in weight that is needed in many places.

ATHLETICS HAVE THE EXPERIENCE

Fielding and Batting of Philadelphia Better Than That of Boston.

New York, Oct. 6.—In the coming series for the world's baseball championship the Athletics are expected to contribute many sensational plays both offensively and defensively, during the struggle for premier diamond honors. In fact, it would be most extraordinary if the reverse should be the case since combinations which include players of the type of Johnny Evers, Eddie Collins, Rabbit Maranville, "Stuffy" McInnis, "Home Run" Baker and Heinie Schmidt execute thrilling catches, throws and stops in every game of the pennant schedule.

A comparison of the two infields shows that both the American and National league championship clubs have quartets of players stretched around the base lines that are far above the ordinary run of these of the big league clubs. It is a question of whether the players are veterans or phenomenal youngsters, with but a year or so of major league experience they are either leaders or close to the top in their particular position. Just how these two infields will play against each other in the series which begins this week is hard to forecast but an individual comparison of the season's work of each of eight players most likely to cover the positions from first to third, shows that they are quite evenly matched in general skill with glove and bat.

Beginning with first base the Athletics will be represented by McInnis and the Braves by Schmidt. The National league player is older and bigger physically than McInnis but the latter has the advantage of longer baseball experience, and the 1914 season records prove him to be stronger with the stick than Schmidt has a fielding average of .992 for 130 games, which puts him third in the list of National league first basemen. His batting average for 133 games is .375. McInnis is second among the initial sackers of the league with .394 for 147 games. At bat he has a far better average than Schmidt, his record being .317 for 146 games.

Evers and Collins will be opposed at second base and here are two names to be conjured with. Both are famous and both have had plenty of world's series experience. At the pivotal point in double plays and infield strategy there is little to choose between them. Both cover wide areas around second base and throw in almost any position. In age and experience Evers is older than Collins, being 36 years of age, and with 12 years of league service against Collins' 10 years and seven seasons on the diamond. In fielding the former Chicago Cub star leads the Mackmen with a .978 average, while Schmidt, his record being .944 for 146 games.

At shortstop it is a case of a steady veteran against a youthful phenom. Barry is 27 while Maranville has just passed his 21st birthday. Physically there is little advantage one way or the other, both being average in height and weight. Barry has had two years' more experience in the national game, perhaps, accounts for his better fielding average, .978 for 131 games. The youthful Brave is a more consistent fielder, however, and has won 123 games. Both fit into the defensive scheme of their respective infields in splendid style, being fast, accurate throwers and capable of running over a wide stretch of territory between second and third base.

On one position in the inner defense where the world's champions appear to have an advantage over the Braves, if "Burrhead" the present season can be depended upon, is at third base. Here J. Franklin Baker and "Red" Smith will hold forth during the coming series. In the batting line Maranville has the famous home run hitter has the better in comparisons over his rival who has played 23 years old, weighs 175 pounds and has had six years of professional baseball experience. Smith is 24, weighs 161 and has played 14 years in the major leagues. The unofficial batting and fielding records of the two infields just previous to the opening of the pennant season showed the following standing:

DOUBLE UP LAST NATIONAL GAMES

Giants and Braves Close Schedule With Tuesday Games.

New York, Oct. 6.—The eastern teams of the National league will wind up their season Tuesday with double-headers in New York between the Giants and the Philadelphia and in Brooklyn between the Superbas and the Boston Braves. By agreement of the clubs, the last games in Brooklyn and New York, scheduled for Wednesday, have been advanced a day and will be played off in the double bills, thus finishing the season one day earlier than scheduled.

Both the Braves and Giants are particularly anxious to end the season today in order to get a short rest before the post-season series in which they will take part. This agreement was made possible by the fact that but little depends upon the games as the Braves have had the pennant clinched for a week and the Giants cannot be dislodged from second place.

FINAL SPURT IN RACE FOR TITLE

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Leading Indianapolis by half a game, the Chicago club of the Federal league started its final spurt today in the race for the pennant, playing a double-header with the Kansas City club.

Chicago and Indianapolis each have three more games to play, today's game included. If Indianapolis wins all its games and Chicago takes its remaining three, the local club will win the championship by half a game. If Indianapolis loses one game, Chicago will need only two games to make certain of the flag. If Indianapolis loses two out of the three, one victory will be sufficient for Chicago.

President Johnson Says Nothing is Doing Along This Line.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Organized baseball has made no overtures to the Federal league for the establishment of peace negotiations nor will it make any. President B. H. Johnson, of the American league, said here last night.

Reports that certain club owners of the American league had held a conference with President James Gilmore, of the Federal organization, recently to bring about a settlement of the baseball war was characterized by Johnson as "pure tommyrot."

"There is not a word of truth in the story," he said. "There can be no peaceful adjustment of this problem. When the American league invaded the game, it was a declaration of war."

SHOOT THE SPY!

German Lead Pencil and "German Time" at Brussels Show Terrible Results of Small Blunders in Operations of War-Time Spy.

PART II.

(Copyright, 1914, by the Newspaper
Enterprise Association.)

Leige, and the villages in the valleys of the Meuse and the Ourthe were as open books to me. While selling laces for my uncle I had walked over the country frequently, and, because of my knowledge of the people, I had not infrequently been detailed there in my service for the country. We, of the service, often had spoken of Leige as "The Key."

We of the spy service know little of the plans of the military. We are sent to acquire certain information; and not to plan campaigns or battles. Others do that. But often, when one or two of us met, we talked of war. In all my years of service I know now fewer than a dozen others in the same service, and most of them by accident.

I have been only three times in the headquarters of the service in the Wilhelmstrasse, Berlin. In Berlin I, with three others, lived in a house which was under care of a woman, old now, but for years one of the most trusted agents. In Paris and elsewhere also we have such agents.

It happened my uncle's wife's brother, of a Belgium-German family, was a market gardener in the valley but several miles (English) from Leige. It was to him I went when I learned that Austria and Serbia were at war, and that all Europe was springing to arms.

I arranged quickly that his family should go to Berlin. I gave him exact directions. (He was to pretend to be sold to his crop and I was to pose as the silly goose (ganschen) and he the sharper (fuger) who had sold me the crop, knowing what was near.) Also he was to take away a bag of cabbages and vegetables and deliver them to a house in Aix, from whence, I knew, word could reach Wilhelmstrasse.

It was not that I expected the attack upon Leige. Even then I could not believe "The Great War" was coming. But Leige was on the way to Paris and it was my duty to report.

So, as a market man, I rode into Leige, and bargained in the market place, and Belgian housewives made baryngas that he sold at me as a simpleton when my beads and carrots were sold at a penny less than at the next stall. They were all talking then of war, and I walked through the town before starting home.

This was before a German soldier's foot had touched Belgium, before even the armies were massed, yet already French officers and one English were there.

I visited wine shops and after dark crept and walked around three of the forts. Much work was going on, and new soldiers were there.

It was midnight when I reached my cottage and my relative was waiting. I had him wait and went into another room.

Writing on the inside of one of the outer leaves of a cabbage in the code I sent word to Berlin of Leige's activity. Then I drew the outer leaf back upon the cabbage head, placed it in the bag with other vegetables and sent my relative away. All he knew was he must discover a certain man in Aix, and hand him the cabbage and pull from it the outer leaf.

For four days I was in the market, and for four nights sent the cabbage, reporting all I saw of importance. French officers were numerous in the city, and were with the Belgians. I saw no more English. The whole valley was swarming with troops, and gossip was free in the market. All talked of war, and I heard much of value concerning numbers of troops, and the building of new works and strengthening of old.

The day word came that the war actually had started Leige was a madhouse. It was easy to get news. We in the market knew of the arrival of each troop as they came from Brussels and Antwerp. Servants told us of orders to flee. That day I was in despair. To remain was to be driven, herded, with the citizens out of the city—and made useless.

I thought of a plan. The cry, "The Germans are coming" was raised everywhere. Families by the score were flying toward Brussels and to the south.

The rumor said the French were coming; that a great battle would be at Leige. I had information I must send. Perhaps my relative could not get past the advancing German troops. In the midst of all the turmoil I set up a great bawl and howled and wept until those near me laughed. I wailed over my losses and cursed the "German swindler" who had sold me his crop. I kept it up until a Belgian officer broke through the laughing crowd and demanded to know the cause of the uproar.

I wailed and wept and told him I must get back home to my wife and family before the Germans came. He told me none could leave the city that way. I wailed until he relented and wrote a pass that I might go. I whipped my cart donkey and, still howling, went away. That night I wrote a message on a cabbage leaf and told my relative to meet me no more.

At daybreak I entered Leige again, sitting on top of a load of vegetables, and pretending great grief.

My day was extremely busy. I complained everywhere of my misfortunes and of being robbed. And continually sought officials demanding pay for my stolen property. Likewise I was seeing much of the disposition of the forces. Also I discovered that neither French nor British forces were arriving—a few officers and one small detachment of French engineers.

Branded as a Spy!

Constantly there were reports that the French were coming and very brave talk—but no soldiers. Troops and some guns arrived from Brussels and several covered guns that looked to be for aeroplane work. My mind was busy with details.

On how slender a thread does the life of a man in our service hang. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon I was directed to appeal to a Belgian official and present my assignment (task) acting. I found him giving orders near the Longdoz station. He was very brusque and very busy. "Fool," he said angrily. "You lose little, we lose perhaps all." I clung to him and wept.

"Foolhead," he said, "to rid myself of you I will write an order that you be paid something. Give me a pencil."

"I have a pencil, excellency," I said—and handed him one.

The moment I gave the pencil to him I knew I had blundered. He looked at it an instant, glanced at me and said sharply, "Where did you get this?"

"I found it, m'sieu," I said.

"Take him to the commandant," he ordered. "Search him."

They searched and found only a few pennies, the key to the cottage, my order for payment for the vegetables and my watch. As I saw them look at the watch I trembled.

"A spy," he said.

My watch was set the German time. I wept and protested my innocence. They dragged me away. The crowd booed and threatened me. In one hour I was before a court of three officers—all too busy to spend much time in shooting one man. They looked at the watch, the pencil, searched me for papers, found nothing, consulted a few minutes and ordered me shot.

I begged my part as simpleton—more realistically then. I really was frightened—the turn had come so quickly it seemed unreal, and there was little time to prepare for dying. I pretended utmost terror and purposely feigned belief that they were killing me for stealing the watch and pencil.

They were taking me away when the big officer who had been kind to me in the market the preceding day, came up. "Ho," he said, recognizing me, "what's this?"

I begged him to save me and the others explained.

Under his orders I was led back. He spoke with the other officers and looked at the watch and the pencil.

Lands Data in German Camp!

"I know the man," he said. "He is a poor fool I allowed to go home yesterday. Perhaps he can tell me about these things."

"What did you get them?" he asked, turning to me.

"Oh, m'sieu," I wailed. "Save me. They think I stole them and would shoot me for it. I found them."

"See," he said to the others. "He knows not what you accuse him of. You found these, where?"

Again I feigned great fear and trembling and would not answer. Speaking truth I was thinking of some explanation. "Tell me or they will shoot you," he said sternly.

"I tried to imitate the cunning look I have seen some of the peasants give in trading."

"I would tell your excellency aside," I said.

He led me aside.

"The German rascal who robbed me," I whispered. "I stole them from him when he left the cottage."

He roared with laughter, and when he told the others they laughed heartily. The big captain ordered me to go and keep out of trouble. I thanked him and made a scene until he pushed me from the room.

At 8 o'clock that night I crossed the Meuse near the Cockerill iron works, in Senaigh, below the forts, and made my way rapidly toward Aix. Before daylight I met the outposts of a German cavalry camp. From there I was hastened toward Aix in an automobile and, before breakfast, I forwarded a complete code report, and under orders remained until noon drawing maps of Leige, its forts, the disposition of troops and giving other data to officers.

Then I was permitted to rest, having been nearly seventy hours without sleep.

LAUGH HEARTILY AND EAT WHAT YOU WANT, SAYS ARTIST OF 94

Alban Jasper Conant, who painted the famous "Smiling Lincoln" and who in the noon of his career as an artist painted Henry Ward Beecher, Dr. James McCosh and John Gilbert, the actor, recently celebrated his ninety-fourth birthday, and to the friends who gathered about the punch bowl that had been provided in his home, in New York city, he gave his recipe for hale and hearty old age. The artist is so perfect an exemplification of his doctrine—his friends predict that he will pass the century mark—that they were particularly interested in his directions how to attain long life. Mr. Conant was a practicing physician before he became a painter. Two things stand out in Mr. Conant's advice. One is to laugh heartily and the other is to eat the things one most relishes. In accounting for his own longevity the artist refers to a third cause—the splendid constitution which he acquired when a youth working as a Vermont farm.

YOUTHFUL, BEAUTIFUL SKIN EASY TO HAVE.

You may be as healthy as a bird in the air, and still have a poor complexion. Changing seasons and temperatures, winds, dust and dirt are apt to injure any skin, even though the general health be good. When these external influences spoil the complexion, the natural thing to do is to remove the spoil by external means. Ordinary mercurized wax will do this. It will actually absorb the weather-beaten skin, leaving a little each day. In a week or two you'll have a brand new complexion, a new skin. The exquisitely beautiful and youthful complexion thus acquired, comes so easily, without harm or discomfort, there's no reason why any woman should not adopt this simple treatment. Get an ounce of mercurized wax at any drug store, apply nightly like cold cream, washing it off mornings. This will not fail in any case.

To quickly remove wrinkles, signs of age and age, bathe the face occasionally in a solution of powdered salicylic acid, dissolved in 1/2 pt. witch hazel. The results will surprise you.

Yard Brakeman Beck Dies in Van Wert Hospital.

L. G. Beck, the Pennsylvania yard brakeman, who had both ankles so badly crushed while at work near Van Wert, Ohio, on last Thursday, and who was taken to the hospital at that place, died at 8:10 o'clock last night following an operation consisting of the amputation of both feet, in an endeavor to save the young man's life. The unfortunate man resided at Delphos, Ohio, where he had a house rented and all furnished, preparatory to being married to a young lady of that place on October 21. He was well known in this city and was a member of the local order of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, which will probably have charge of the funeral, which will occur at Delphos some time tomorrow. Chas. J. Beck, of the Ervington barber shop, in this city, is a brother of the deceased.

EXPECT A BIG CLASS.

At the preliminary meeting last night for the organization of a school for employees of the Fort Wayne Electric works other than the foremen and assistant foremen, resulted in fifty signing the application blanks, indicating considerable interest and appreciation of the efforts of the company to educate and generally advance its employees. W. J. Hockett, who has charge of the work, laid this morning that he expected a class of at least fifty, which will be very satisfactory to the men back of the project. In this school there will be two sections one to meet Monday and the other Wednesday evenings. The classes composed of the foremen and assistant foremen, which meets on Thursday evenings, is now well organized with twenty-five members.

This evening there will be a meeting of the board of managers, the literary committee and the committee on entertainment to formulate plans for the opening night of the Electro-Technic Club's lecture season, which will be October 20. CITY LIGHT PUTS UP NEW RECORD

Net Gain of 239 New Services for September Shows the Drift.

During September all monthly record lights and power works when a net gain of 239 new services was made. The best previous month was last March, when a net gain of 209 new services was the exhibit. The March figures were considered remarkable, for they surpassed any record made even during the period when the city rate was 8 cents and the traction company was still maintaining its 10-cent rate. The September record shows a rapid drift to support of the municipal lighting plant, which has twice within a short time cut the rates for the people of Fort Wayne. Since January 5, 1914, when Secretary John Wessel took charge of the city light and power department there has been a net gain of 1,071 services.

Since January 5 the gain in cash receipts by the municipal lighting department have not fallen below 51 per cent in any one month, while the maximum monthly gain has been 71 per cent. The average for the nine months has exceeded 60 per cent.

Secretary Wessel has called a meeting for tonight of all the heads of departments in the city light and power works to discuss the appropriations of each department for 1915. Important plans for the extension and improvement of the municipal electric service are being worked out and the purpose is to take these matters up this early in order that every detail may be thoroughly considered, every need properly met and every possible contingency thoughtfully provided for.

One of the subjects to be discussed at the meeting will be an arc circuit to entirely bound the city. This will serve to relieve some of the arc circuits that are carrying an overload and at the same time will establish a trunk that can be worked from either end or out from the city and will serve the rapidly developing territory in the boulevard regions.

The city light and power offices have been completely installed in the new quarters in the Rabus property, recently purchased for that purpose, and within a short time everything will be arranged to the liking of Secretary Wessel and his staff and for the entire convenience of the public. An electric sign will be placed at once on the front of the building with the announcement, "German spoken here."

WABASH READY TO BEGIN.

Will Start Work Wednesday on Taylor Street Elevation.

Following a conference Tuesday when Mayor Hoesy met with Division Engineer W. S. Dames, of the Wabash railroad, Mr. Crider, of the Carmichael & Crider Construction company, it was settled that the construction company should begin work Tuesday morning on the Taylor street track elevation work. The Carmichael & Crider company is doing the Wabash work here and will start in to install permanent work at the Taylor street subway and it is believed that the Carmichael & Crider company will be completed under the elevation this fall.

It was also promised that next Tuesday the Wabash would begin the work of placing the gigantic concrete slabs for the Harrison street elevation. If works on the road do not interfere with the retention of the big wrecking cranes, with which the slabs will be placed, the work will take about four days. By the beginning of the following week the pilings can be removed and the work of paving the subway started.

PLANS A SIGNAL FOR STATION.

Mayor Hoesy is working on the plan for an electric signal device to be installed at waterworks pumping station No. 1, that will automatically apprise those on duty at any time of day or night when the big reservoir on Lafayette street, is filled to its capacity. This would forestall any such contingency as overumping. A new gauge is being installed at the reservoir to replace the one that several weeks ago failed to work and allowed the reservoir to be overtopped. Mayor Hoesy thinks the new gauge can be supplemented with a device that will signal the pumping station when enough water has been pumped.

BUILDING BRIDGE APPROACHES.

Superintendent Strodel, of the street and sewer department of the department of public works, is directing the work of a gang of men and teams now engaged in building approaches to the Fourth street bridge over Spy Run. It is expected that the county commissioners will get about the construction of the bridge as soon as the city completes the approaches.

MAY LEASE GOLF COURSE.

The board of park commissioners probably will secure a lease of the White property in the east end to be used as a public golf course. This is the plan most in favor and one that promises the best economy. A site north of McKinzie avenue and east of Anthony boulevard has been considered, but the development of that section may put a prohibitive rental on the property. The matter was discussed informally at Saturday's meeting of the board.

NEW HOME IS OCCUPIED.

The city light and power department established itself completely in its new home in the old Rabus property, east of the city hall, Monday, and all business relating to that department will now be transacted in the new quarters. Secretary Wessel and his office staff have moved their official belongings to the new place and this month and hereafter the rates for city-current will be payable.

SATISFIED WITH RETURNS OF DAY

Political Workers Are Much Pleased With Registration Showing.

At headquarters of the democratic, progressive and republican parties on Tuesday there was a general air of satisfaction with the returns from the registration of Monday.

"I firmly believe that the democrats got ninety-five per cent. of the vote," said Chairman W. A. Johnson, "and the general figures will bear me out in this."

"In addition to the returns made to the county auditor workers in the city and county say that comparatively few democrats failed to take advantage of the last registration day and we are pretty well satisfied."

"We are checking up today," said Lew P. Sharp, republican chairman, "and we find that the party turned out in good shape as only in a few cases were we unable to get out the full voting strength."

In the city the registration was a little late but last night those who had not been accounted for were hunted up and most of them responded to the call. At progressive headquarters there was the same story of the work and although no great amount of personal work was done the voters went to the registration booths without persuasion and the leaders believe they will be able to show some gains at the polls next month.

A big crowd is expected at Churchinco on the night of October 16, when Congressman E. D. Crumpacker, of the Tenth Indiana district, will be the principal speaker. Miles J. Furness and Charles R. Lane will also be on the program. Other republican meetings scheduled are at Albion on Tuesday night and at LaOtto Wednesday night. Some of the democrats from the eastern portion of the county are arranging to hear W. J. Bryan in his speech at Van Wert on Thursday night.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Strength developed in wheat today after a temporary setback at the close of yesterday's session. Prices opened 3/4c off to 1/2c up, suffered a moderate decline and then rose to well above last night's level all around.

The close was weak, 3/4c to 1/2c lower. Corn advanced with wheat. After opening unchanged to 3/4c lower, the market scored a slight general gain. The close, however, was steady, 3/4c to 1/2c under last night.

There was only a fair demand for oats. Provisions followed the course of other grain. Provisions went lower with hogs, which were depressed by large receipts throughout the west.

STILL GREATER BATTLE NEAR IN EASTERN AREA

FRENCH LINE AS GERMAN FORCE FORT

ALLIES' BATTLE LINE NOW 180 MILES LONG

London, Oct. 6.—(1:09 p. m.)—Never since its start has the battle of the Aisne which has now become virtually a siege of the German positions on the Oise and north of this river, shown such a dearth of news as on this twenty-fifth day of the struggle.

The British information bureau, never very diffuse, completely closed down on current events from the front several days ago and it will not continue until Sir John French, the commander of the British expeditionary force, puts the machinery in motion again. The reticence of the Paris official communication last night was even more marked than customary. It furnished no inkling of what had happened after the Germans "had forced the French to yield ground at certain points" on the all-important western wing.

Today there was a break in the silence to record the fact that the allies have greatly extended their battle line and that the great conflict is continuing with undiminished fury.

It is argued here that intermittent variations are inevitable and not necessarily important in such a hard fought combat, throughout which given positions are taken and re-taken and taken again many times.

That the allies, for the moment possess greater mobility than do their foe seems to be indicated by the news that they have been able to raid the German lines of communication, cut a railroad and destroy a train belonging to the artillery of the German imperial guard. This is a hint borrowed from the Russians, whose flanking methods appear to have contributed greatly to the reported German undoing in the eastern war arena. As the economic wastage in houses progresses, it is claimed for the allies that their possibilities for such movements will increase while those of their opponents decrease. German cavalrymen on bicycles already are a common sight and the Russian advance which is cutting Germany off from the horse producing districts of Hungary must, if maintained, further increase the shortage in mounts.

Today's War News Given in Summary.

The official silence maintained for the past 12 hours over the operations of the allies in northeastern France was broken today by the official statement from Paris. This set forth that the left wing of the allied army was extending more and more widely; that strong forces of German cavalry had appeared in the vicinity of Lille, in the department of Nord; that between the Somme and the Oise there had been alternate advances and withdrawals and that a German attack near Lassigny had failed. North of Soissons the allies have advanced. The rest of the front shows no change.

The disclosure that the operations on the western end of the great battle line have reached the vicinity of Lille places the Germans in strength at a point easily within ten miles of the Belgian frontier. Taking Lassigny as the elbow of the French battle line, it now extends roughly for eighty miles due north and for considerably over 100 miles from Lassigny to the eastward.

No confirmation has come from any German source of the reported removal by Emperor William of Field Marshal von Moltke from the post of chief of the German general staff and the succession by Staff General von Voigts-Rietz. This story was received in London last night from Amsterdam.

The Japanese navy department in explaining the occupation of the German island of Jaltut, one of the Marshall group in the South Pacific, declares that the move was made for military purposes and not for permanent occupation.

French troops are well established in Alsace, according to a news dispatch from Soissons, France, and the German forces before them are not numerous. Another newspaper correspondent telegraphs that the French are fortified in excellent positions in the Vosges.

A second Russian army is now threatening the town of Huzst, in eastern Hungary, according to a news dispatch from Rome. Huzst is 40 miles from the boundary of Galicia which is here the crest of the Carpathian mountains.

The day so far has brought no news from the scene of operations in the eastern area of the war along the German-Russian frontier, where a battle of vaster proportions than the one in northeastern France is said to be about to begin. Emperor Nicholas is at the Russian front and the impending combat may become of supreme importance.

Twenty-four American nurses and six doctors, members of the Red Cross units, assigned to Russia, are at Stockholm, Sweden, on their way to Petrograd.

A force of ninety architects and 3,000 workmen stands ready in Paris to go forth into the war zone to repair damage by shell and flame.

GRATIFYING TO GERMANS.

Performance of Kaiser's Warships is Surprise to Berlin.

Berlin, Oct. 6.—Press matter derived from official German sources today says:

"Surprise generally is expressed at the amazing activity of the German cruisers stationed abroad. Though it was generally expected that the vessels would fall easy victims to British warships within a fortnight after the declaration of war, Germans now are astonished to learn from reports in the British and French press of the damage they are doing to the merchant marine of the enemy.

"The Goeben, Breslau, Bremen, Karlsruhe and the Leipzig are the names of the German vessels, whose successes have caused the liveliest satisfaction in Germany. In addition the cruiser Behncke-Wesinghaus and the cruiser Gneisenau stationed in the Pacific, are reported to have been busy in the vicinity of Tahiti, Society Islands, where they succeeded in destroying the gunboat Zeeuw.

"The attempts of the powers composing the triple entente to force the opening of the Dardanelles have failed. The

Man Who Sentenced Labor Heads Quits

JUSTICE D. T. WRIGHT.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Associate Justice Daniel T. Wright, of the District of Columbia, against whom impeachment charges are pending before the house judiciary committee, today sent his resignation to President Wilson to take effect Nov. 15. The charges filed by a Washington banker alleged official and personal misconduct. Justice Wright attracted nation-wide attention several years ago by sentencing Samuel Gompers and other labor leaders to jail for contempt of court.

JAPAN WILL NOT VIOLATE PLEDGE

Washington, Oct. 6.—Japan has no design to violate in any sense the undertaking she gave at the beginning of the war to confine her military operations to the far east, the Japan embassy announced today and the landing of Japanese blue jackets on Jaltut island, one of the Marshall group of German Pacific islands, is regarded at the embassy here as fully within the scope of the pledge.

Without direct advice from Tokio on the subject the officials are confident that the purpose of the Japanese landing in the Marshall islands was to protect commerce; a privilege specially reserved in the Japanese undertaking. It is known that Jaltut had been made a base for German cruisers in the South Pacific, which were preying on British and Japanese commerce. It is said, too, that large quantities of the supplies had been gathered by the German government.

BIDS FOR BATTLESHIPS.

Washington, Oct. 6.—The Newport News Va. Ship Building Company at $7,115,000 and the New York Ship Building Company at $7,175,000 were the two lowest bidders today for the construction of the two 32,000-ton battleships to be built for the navy this year. As each concern bid for one ship only, each will receive a contract.

Fort Wayne's First Class Enrolled at Washington Vocational School to Learn the Art of Printing in Real Office

Bottom row—left to right—Herbert Thiele, Bruno Bauer, Charles Schwartz, Robert Burns, Lloyd Price, Ross Armack, Claude Tallow. In the olden days boys had to be "printers" before they could become printers. Now they learn the art in vocational schools and this shows Prof. Perea R. Bell and the first class enrolled in Fort Wayne. It was the duty of the "printer's devil" of the old days to open the office of mornings, build fires, sweep out, wash the rollers and learn to smoke through the medium of the foreman's pipe. The equipment in the Washington vocational school is being arranged and soon will be in active operation. It is expected that about twenty to twenty-five boys will start at the trade and that a little later on much of the school printing will be turned out of the office. The first "job" has been secured and it consists of getting out some programs for the parent-teacher club of the school. The length of the course has not been determined but it probably will be three years.

AMERICAN UNDER ARREST RELEASED

London, Oct. 6.—(2 p. m.)—George S. Sheetz, a racing man who said he was in the employ of W. E. D. Stokes and who was arrested by Scotland Yard detectives on the charge of carrying letters between London and Berlin, has been released at the request of the American ambassador. He will sail for New York tomorrow. Sheetz was in charge of a racing stable at Vienna and when the war began he came to London. Subsequently he made several trips to Berlin which attracted the suspicion of Scotland Yard. Sheetz, on being arrested had in his possession letters addressed to persons living in Germany. An agreement was reached with the British authorities to release him as the result of Sheetz's promise that he would sail immediately for the United States.

RUSTEM KEEPS THEM GUESSING

New York, Oct. 6.—The whereabouts of A. Rustem Bey, Turkish ambassador to the United States, and his plans for returning to Europe caused considerable speculation today at the office of the Turkish consul general here. Rustem Bey came to this city last Saturday from Washington with the announced intention of taking a boat for Europe but at noon today no accommodations were reserved for him on any outgoing steamer.

Rustem Bey engaged passage on the Sant Anna for Naples yesterday. The Sant Anna was due to sail this afternoon. Later in the afternoon the Turkish ambassador returned to the steamship office and cancelled his booking. Still later in the day Rustem Bey came back for the third time and re-engaged passage. This morning he cancelled his passage again.

On his visit to the steamship office he was accompanied by A. McAllister Smith, who said he expected to accompany the Turkish ambassador on the trip.

German troops participated in the fighting.

ATTACK ON ANTWERP SLACKENS.

Antwerp, Oct. 6.—After a brief respite from the "most encouraging" news received here from Antwerp. It is said that the German attacks on this place seem to be slackening somewhat in intensity.

It has been announced here by a credible authority that Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty is now at Antwerp consulting with the Belgian general staff.

SECOND AMERICAN SOLDIER IS SHOT

Naco, Ariz., Oct. 6.—Private Leroy Bradford, of troop G, 10th United States cavalry border patrol, was struck in the breast today by a bullet fired from the trenches occupied by troops of Gen. Hill, defending the town of Naco, Sonora, from the attacks of Governor Maytorena. Bradford was in a trench dug for the protection of the American troops on the border line. His wound is said to be serious.

Bradford is the second United States soldier to be struck by Mexican bullets since Maytorena and his adherents began their attack four days ago in the Mexican town. Private Wilson, of the same troop, was hit Sunday. A boy was hit in the hand by a stray bullet yesterday. Two cavalry horses also have been shot. This loss on the non-combatant side is almost as great as that suffered by the contending Mexican forces.

SUPPLY STORE IS BURNED.

Union Miners in Ohio Sustain Second Loss During Strike.

St. Clairsville, Ohio, Oct. 6.—The union miners' supply store at Piquette, near here, was destroyed by fire early today with a loss of $9,000, the second time since the coal strike began seven months ago. The second story of the building was used as a school for foreign children. Officers are investigating the report that the fire was of incendiary origin.

EYES NOW TURN TO RUSSIAN FRONTIER

London, Oct. 5.—(10:10 a. m.)—So far the London is concerned for the past twelve hours, news has been contraband of war. When the embargo is lifted the public expects tidings of great moment and there is a distinct tendency to optimism regarding the nature of the revelations. The French ministry of war, in explaining the necessity for the official communications being laconic, states that it is useless to be more explicit since battles are not finished. The authorities know that the conflict will be tedious and prolonged before a decisive result is obtained.

Even the small relief afforded by the news of great activity in the east, sent out yesterday, has been extended to the region where, throughout the war, news of the military operations have been more accessible than in any other theater of the warfare.

Victory for one side or other along the Russian frontier is of supreme importance, and the tremendous battle impending there may mark the climax of the war.

The military experts are beginning to appreciate the fact that the attacks now being made on either flank of the western army are not entirely turning movements which depend for their effectiveness on speed and surprise. Little evidence of either has been shown on the allies' left. If, however, the Russians win a great victory in the east, it will compel the Germans to divert some of their western armies in that direction and the flank movements will become crushing attacks which will crumple up the depleted German lines.

On the other hand if the Russians are the victims of a severe reverse, some of the veteran German corps will be released for service in the west and the Germans may pierce the numerically inferior allied line. Whichever side can extend its line furthest without weakening its front ought, according to the experts, to win the battle of the Aisne. Hence the crucial importance of the battle on the Russian frontier.

The battle line along the Russian border is not continuous but the intervals separating the various armies are comparatively small gaps and the whole territory along the frontier from Tilsit, on the northeast border of Prussia, to Dukla pass, in the Carpathians, bristles with arms.

No battle front extends beyond Dukla pass but small mobile Russian forces are covering the plain of Hungary. The longest continuous German line extends from Dukla pass to a point almost on the Vistula river, a short distance from Warsaw. This is composed of the armies which swept over Galicia and is now the instrument of the projected invasion of Silesia.

NO HARMONY IN WAR ARGUMENT.

NO ABATEMENT IN FURY OF STRUGGLE

Paris, Oct. 6.—(7:01 a. m.)—Despite the official announcement yesterday that the allies had yielded somewhat, confidence today in the ultimate success of the French and English in the great action on the left wing of the battle front in Northern France has by no means diminished. Meanwhile without repose and with no sign of a truce the tremendous battle of millions of men is going on, each side trying by every possible means in their power to gain the advantage.

North of the Oise has appeared for the first time in a war office statement. Till now all the combats fought on the right bank of the Oise river have been mentioned either in the region of Roye or between the Somme and the Oise. There is much speculation on the phase of the fighting in that vicinity which has a greatly varied importance.

The military critics, among them Lieut. Colonel Rousset, of the Petit Parisien, refuses to attach any importance to the set-back or to the yielding of territory, declaring them to be the inevitable retreats that can be offset by a progressive movement. He cites the fact that Napoleon Bonaparte at Marano had to retreat three times in the face of the Austrians which did not prevent him from finding there one of his most brilliant victories as well as one of the most profitable.

The familiarity of the French with the territory is frequently of considerable advantage to them. The marshes of Saint Goud, near the Petit Marne river, are perfectly solid in the dry season and the Germans here had made all preparations for an important surprise attack. The night before this was to occur a heavy rain which made the swamp a lake and turned the position to the disadvantage of the Germans. The French merely stuck to their positions and while the enemy was in distress in the soggy ground annihilated large numbers with their artillery fire. The digging of false trenches and all kinds of efforts which will redound to advantage are being resorted to by one side or other.

The lists of dead printed in the news papers are growing. They sometimes furnish the only news of the soldiers since their departure to the front.

A force of ninety architects and engineers and 3,000 workers is ready to repair the damage in the war zone.

URGING CONGRESS TO ACT PROMPTLY

In Purchase of Monticello as Virginia Home of Presidents.

Washington, Oct. 6.—In official circles today the hope was expressed that congress would act promptly on the letter of Representative Jefferson M. Levy, of New York, owner of the Monticello home of Thomas Jefferson, to Secretary

Bryan in which he said he would consider an offer of $500,000 from the United States government for the state. Mr. Bryan it was said, would refer the communication to congress at once. Mr. Levy in his letter stated he always had abhorred the idea of Monticello becoming a "mere museum."

"I have maintained it," he wrote, as a home—the home of Thomas Jefferson—and if I am to part with it I should like that thought to be retained. Make it the home—the Virginia home—of the presidents of the United States and maintain it for their occasional occupation and I would be content."

Mr. Levy also said he had added to the 218 acres he had purchased until the original acreage of more than 700 had been restored. He added he had spent one million dollars on the estate. The movement for the acquisition by the government of Monticello began several years ago.

Indianapolis, Oct. 6.—William A. Gallagher, alias James Gallagher, alias William Taylor, the yeggman who attempted to rob the safe in the postoffice at Plymouth, Ind., more than a year ago and who made a daring dash for liberty while held at the Marion county jail awaiting trial and later was apprehended in Chicago, entered a plea of guilty before Judge Anderson in the United States district court yesterday and was sentenced to two years and six months in the United States penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan.

GERMAN CAVALRY IN STRONG FORCE

Paris, Oct. 6.—(2:04 p. m.)—The following official communication was given out in Paris this morning:

"On our left wing the front is extending more and more widely. Very important masses of German cavalry have been reported in the environs of Lille, coming from forces of the enemy which are making a movement in the region to the north of the line between Tourcoing (in the department of Nord, seven miles northeast of Lille) and Armentieres (nine miles northwest of Lille in the vicinity of Arras). On the right bank of the river Somme, the situation shows little change. Between the Somme and the Oise there have been alternate advances and withdrawals. Near Laon the enemy undertook an important attack which, however, failed.

On the right bank of the Aisne, to the north of Soissons, we have with the co-operation of the British army, made a slight advance. We have also made some progress in the vicinity of Berry-au-Bac.

In Belgium, the Belgian forces defending Antwerp, have occupied strongly the line between the river Rupel and the river Nethe; against this line the attacks of the Germans have failed.

MORE TRAVELERS ARE BACK.

Fort Wayne Citizens Return From Germany After Uneventful Stay in Europe.

Christian Ernsting, 1522 Gay street, who was formerly employed at the Western Gas Construction company's plant, is back from a visit with a brother in Germany and says that he suffered no inconvenience during his stay, which extended after the declaration and beginning of war. He has a nephew in the aviation corps and says that a farm hand, working for his brother, volunteered, but was refused and told to return to the soil so that the non-producers might do the fighting.

Mrs. D. R. Stelling is also back and she states that she suffered no inconvenience other than that she remained longer than she expected on account of interrupted train service, due to mobilization and moving of the soldiers.

Carl Alf, a business man of Saarbrueck, Germany, is in Fort Wayne and will remain for the present in the United States. He was in this country when war broke out and says he has had no opportunity to return.

New York, Oct. 6.—The banking firm of Speyer & Co., which was originally founded in Frankfurt, Germany, and still maintains German connections, notified the stock exchange today that in view of the proclamation of King George forbidding British subjects to give aid to Germany, financial or otherwise, Sir Edgar Speyer, British London partner, had temporarily severed his connection with the firm. Sir Edgar is a British subject.

PRAISE U. S. FOR PEACE PRAYERS

Paris, Oct. 6.—6:05 a. m.—All the newspapers print a news dispatch announcing that prayers for peace were given throughout America on Sunday last. Commenting on the incident the Gaulois regrets that the example has not been followed by France and declaring that President Wilson is not afraid to have the American republic kneel before the Most High.

"It lifts the hope," says Gaulois, "that our republic will one day follow the example of the United States, which we so often imitate, and not fear to show itself as religious, faithful and confident in God as the most ancient monarchies of Europe."

Liber Parole says that President Wilson's example could well be imitated by France.

New York Shows Big Decrease in Death Rate for Week.

New York, Oct. 6.—The mortality rate during last week of 10.58 a 1,000 was the lowest on record in the history of New York City. It was announced today. This was 1.64 points lower than in the corresponding week of 1913, being equivalent to a decrease of 165 deaths.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

11 Chronicles 6:12-20.

12 And he stood before the altar of the Lord in the presence of all the congregation of Israel, and spread forth his hands:

13 For Solomon had made a brazen scaffold, of five cubits long, and five cubits broad, and three cubits high, and set it in the midst of the court: and upon it he stood, and kneeled down upon his knees before all the congregation of Israel, and spread forth his hands toward heaven,

14 And said, O Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee in the heaven, nor in the earth; which keepest covenant, and shewest mercy unto thy servants, that walk before thee with all their hearts:

15 Thou which hast kept with thy servant David my father that which thou hast promised him; and spakest with thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine hand, as it is this day.

16 Now, therefore, O Lord God of Israel, keep with thy servant David my father that which thou hast promised him, saying, There shall not fail thee a man in my sight to sit upon the throne of Israel; yet so that thy children take heed to their way to walk in my law, as thou hast walked before me.

17 Now then, O Lord God of Israel, let thy word be verified, which thou hast spoken unto thy servant David.

18 But will God in very deed dwell with men on the earth? behold, heaven and the heaven of heavens cannot contain thee; how much less this house which I have built!

19 Have respect therefore to the prayer of thy servant, and to his supplication, O Lord my God, to hearken unto the cry and the prayer which thy servant prayeth before thee:

20 That thine eyes may be open upon this house day and night, upon the place whereof thou hast said that thou wouldest put thy name there; to hearken unto the prayer which thy servant prayeth toward this place.

Vocational Training.

Vocational training in the Fort Wayne city schools has just been augmented by the addition of a department of printing, and as a start some twenty boys are being given instruction in the elemental phases of the printer's craft under the direction of a union journeyman printer. That the classes will increase rapidly we have no doubt, and while it is not to be expected that the vocational school will turn out finished workmen, the instruction is going to be of tremendous value to the boys, whether they shall elect to follow the printer's trade or not. It is certain to give them a grasp of English construction, of capitalization and of punctuation that we do not believe is to be acquired in any other manner.

The Sentinel is much gratified to see the development of the vocational training idea in the Fort Wayne schools. It is the natural outgrowth of the more circumscribed manual training development launched some years ago, and which has proven both fascinating and helpful to hundreds of Fort Wayne boys as they were nearing the close of school training. Vocational training is placing new emphasis upon the necessity for the best possible equipment with which to meet the situation the boy must face when he "strikes out" for himself. We do not believe these later days have sufficiently impressed the value and the importance of a trade to the boy who must win his own way. The tendency has been too much toward either the professions or to that sort of hit-and-miss existence that hopes to connect with a "job" of some sort or other that will provide subsistence without the necessity for training. Nothing could be more precarious than the lot of the untrained man in these days of tremendous competition. Every boy should have a definite calling in which he may specialize and develop. The skilled workman has infinite advantage over the man without a trade. There has been too pronounced a tendency on the part of the oncoming young man to yield to the lure of some avenue of employment that promises immediate financial returns without requiring the service of especial apprenticeship or preparation. When it is too late to begin anew he realizes the unstable and insecure character of his choice. Vocational training represents a new conception of the state's duty to its boys in an educational way. It will cost money, but it is worth it, and it will be a tremendous mistake if the schoolboys—and the schoolgirls as well—of these days do not take the fullest advantage of the opportunity thus held out to them.

The National American Woman Suffrage association is preparing a magnificent eight-reel moving picture production which will be shown during the coming months in the campaign for votes for women. Really, the ladies who have been accused of knowing little of the ways of politics seem to have hit upon an effective campaign stunt that will make mere man turn green with envy because he didn't think of it first.

The treasury department has issued a statement carrying the interesting information that there is at present $3,694,748,196 of money in circulation in the United States. Doubtless the census department will now supply you with information enabling you to make the computation to discover for yourself whether you are in possession of your pro rata share of this rather sizeable fund.

Those two thousand Allen county voters who failed to register will appreciate the real extent of their civic delinquency when they are denied the privilege of casting a ballot in November, but they really haven't anybody to blame but themselves.

WORLD'S MOST TERRIBLE EXPLOSIVE AND MAN WHO INVENTED IT.

Amazing tales are going the rounds about the latest death dealing explosive, invented by M. Turpin of melinite fame, "Turpinite," as the mysterious composition has been called, is said to have been used by the French in the recent fighting with such devastating effect that "whole battalions of German infantry have been found dead in their trenches, standing bolt upright and still holding their rifles in firing attitude, as though suddenly petrified." Its manufacture is reported to be taking place at a special factory in the suburbs of Paris, the shells being "finished off in a private laboratory by M. Turpin and two assistants working behind locked doors." Also a special big gun is said to be required, worked by M. Turpin's employees. It is claimed by the inventor's friends that a single fifty-six pound shell "is able to kill and, so to speak, petrify every living thing in a space of 400 square yards." Horses and sheep, the story goes, were experimented on by exploding a charge near them; the hapless creatures dropped dead on the spot the instant the "Turpinite" went off. The "petrifying agent consists of fumes which spread rapidly."

PRESS COMMENT ON WIRELESS CONTROL.

"Private Correspondence." Boston Advertiser:—"The United States has, if it desires to assume such power, the right even to inspect the private correspondence of any person in this country if there be adequate proof that such correspondence is specifically violating the neutrality of this country."

"Make an Example." Cleveland Plain Dealer:—"When one is found violating neutrality and proves not amenable to suggestion, nothing remains but to make an example of him. And the example should prove beneficial all around."

"Reassuring." Syracuse Herald:—"It is reassuring indeed to know that there will be no war between the Marconi company and the United States government on the moors of eastern Nantucket."

"No Favorites." Minneapolis Journal:—"The president has been playing no favorites in this matter of censorship, and he has no time to waste over the legal technicalities of radio messages."

"Judgment of Courts." Pittsburgh Dispatch:—"The question whether the use of the Siasconet property in sending or receiving certain kinds of messages is a violation of neutrality seems to us especially subject to the judgment of the courts."

"Doing Its Duty." Springfield Republican:—"The government is doing its duty in meeting its neutral obligations, and it will be interesting to observe if the courts will venture to limit the president's power to prevent a wireless company from handling messages from a belligerent cruiser at sea."

"In No Sense Judicial." Boston Post:—"The enforcement of neutrality is in no sense a judicial function; it cannot be subjected to revision by any tribunal; it is regulated by administrative authority alone."

"If Unrestrained." Detroit Tribune:—"The radio message goes out into the ambient air and is there for the hearing of anybody. If unrestrained by a censorship one can imagine what use of it could be made by a belligerent."

JOHN WANAMAKER HOPEFUL.

(Brooklyn Eagle.)

The Eagle cordially commends the following words of John Wanamaker to those who are thinking and talking of the present business situation:

"This condition is only temporary. We can shorten it. It is our duty not to talk down, but to talk up. We must first get ourselves into an optimistic frame of mind for the man who is discouraged can discourage the man who is next to him."

"That is a good gospel, especially of service now. The man who tries to make political capital by attributing hard times to the other party is not showing patriotism. The fact is that we are suffering with the rest of the world from conditions which we have had no part in creating."

The fact is that this present period in the United States, if there had been no European war, would nevertheless have been a period of business and financial adjustment, owing to new tariff and taxation and banking legislation. With that war going on adjustment is slower and more difficult.

here. But the United States is healthy at the core, and not all the pessimism in the world can long delay a great revival, owing in part to the grasping of new markets, which war has made possible.

BRITISH AIDING JAPS IN CHINA

English Participate in Bombardment of German Territory.

Peking, Oct. 5.—A communication received here from a German source in Tsing-Tau, the fortified position in the Kiao Chow territory, sets forth that in a German sortie last Friday night the Germans lost one man killed and three wounded, while twenty-five Germans are missing.

The British battleship Triumph, according to this same information, has participated in the bombardment of Tsing-Tau. A German torpedo boat, which was recently engaged with the Japanese, has returned to the harbor undamaged. The German gunboat, Jaguar, was slightly damaged.

Information has been obtained from a reliable source that last night the German authorities gave instructions for the destruction of all railroad bridges and stations still under their control along the line running east and west through Shan Tung province. The Germans endeavored further to transfer all the rolling stock of this line to the Tien-Tsin-Pukow road, but the Chinese board of communication issued instructions to prevent such transfer.

The Russian government it is related here, has undertaken to find capital for the Chinese government for the construction of a railroad line from Harbin to Blagoveshchensk, with a branch to Tsitsihar in Manchuria.

A recent dispatch from Tokio said that in a surprise night attack against the Japanese the Germans had 48 men killed. This same dispatch said that four Japanese shells had struck the German gunboat Illis, a sister ship of the Jaguar, which retired to the inner harbor after the exchange of shots.

MAY HAVE RESIDED HERE.

Nanticoke Foreigner Who Ran Amuck in Big Fight Here.

The belief is expressed by the police department of Fort Wayne that Peter Dutachuk, who became crazed and ran amuck with a razor in Nanticoke, a mining town in the Pennsylvania anthracite region, seriously injuring half a score of men before he was subdued, once resided in this city. He is believed to have been one of a mob of foreigners who became drunk and in a Polish wedding on Buchanan street two or three years ago, and engaged in a desperate battle with knives in which several men were badly injured. The man at Nanticoke gave his residence as Fort Wayne. It is probable that he merely is one of numerous foreigners who have worked on construction gangs or at the rolling mills here.

Adolph Schilling has gone to Philadelphia to attend the annual convention of the Greenhouse Vegetable Growers of America.

"Ghost Gown" Not Popular in Paris

This gown was not designed for a Halloween celebration, though the weird, ghost-like figures suggest a "phantom" party. It is one of the models sent out by Dreyer of Paris just before the war storm broke out and it was designed for a Parisian society woman who is now so busy doing Red Cross work that she has no need of afternoon gowns.

Black satin is the foundation beneath the lace tunic and the blouse is also of black satin.

FINDS FOR CITY IN LIGHT SUITS

Court Holds the Injunctions Were Sought Too Late to Stand.

In the circuit court Tuesday Judge John W. Eggenman handed down his decision in the suit of Frank L. Wilt and others and the trustees of the Plymouth Congregational church against the city for a permanent injunction to restrain the city from collecting the assessments made for the ornamental lighting system on Harrison street and Calhoun street, south of the railroad. Judge Eggenman held that the city had a right to assess for the poles, but for no other part of the installation, and that by law it had no right to assess for else than the poles. But he held also that the plaintiffs had not appealed against the assessment by remonstrance within the ten days fixed by law and that thereby they had forfeited their rights in court to an injunction to restrain collection. He said that the course should have been by direct attack and not by remonstrance within the legal period fixed by law and not later by process of injunction. The effect of the ruling will be that the property owners will have to pay the assessments made, though that was not stated from the bench by the court. The victory is an important one for the city, because had the plaintiffs won the decision similar suits would doubtless have been brought by all the assessed property owners assessed for ornamental lights on Harrison, Calhoun, West Main and Columbia streets. Suits for a modification of the assessments are pending in large numbers in the courts.

NOTES OF THE COURTS.

In the superior court Tuesday Edward Toomer was admitted to the bar. He had a diploma from a law school and was examined by a committee composed of Samuel Morris, Jr., H. C. Hogan and William H. Shanbough. He will practice in Fort Wayne.

The damage suit of Frank Ochman against the Lake Erie & Western railroad has been dismissed in the superior court.

FIRST ROAD FOR SCIPIO.

Dean Ellison Gets Contract for First Highway of System.

The board of county commissioners on Tuesday awarded to Dean Ellison the contract for constructing Road No. 1 of the Scipio township system of improved highways and in the process of the system voted to build the road will have a length of 10,400 feet. The width of the roadway will be forty feet and the width of the roadbed twenty-eight feet. The specifications call for twelve inches of stone in three layers—the first four inches to be of two and one-half to three and one-half inch broken stone, the second four inches of one-half to one inch broken stone and the third to be of screenings and crushed between the other two to fill the voids. The bids were as follows: Dean Ellison, $12,775; Charles W. Eling, $12,484; Harley Sommers, $12,987; Eric Stone company, $13,339. The engineer's estimate for the road was $13,730.55. The right-of-way mile the Ellison bid will be $4,157.50 per mile.

OPTION ELECTION NOV. 4.

The county commissioners on Tuesday morning fixed the date of the local option election in Washington township for Wednesday, Nov. 4, the day following the general election. SOCIETY

KEEP KIDDIES WELL DRESSED ON SMALL ALLOWANCE

THE "OLIVER TWIST"

THE PINAFORF FOR LITTLE MISS MADE OUT OF BIG SISTERS' DISCARDED GOWN.

(By CAROLINE COE.)

Miss Greta Scroggy has issued invitations to a party she will give at her home in Lakeside on Thursday afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. Howard David, who is visiting here from Moscow, Idaho, and for her cousin, Miss Vida Abbott, of Kansas City, Mo.

Among the coming parties to be given in honor of Miss Verne Bowser are a thimble afternoon affair at the home of Miss Vera Tresselt, of Washington boulevard west and an afternoon party on Saturday for which Miss Ruth Caldwell will be the hostess.

Mrs. Ellis Bronson will give a luncheon on Thursday at the English tea room in honor of Mrs. Harold Stark, of Detroit, who has been here for several days with her son, John, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Taylor. A number of parties are planned for Mrs. Stark.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McGee, of Lake avenue, will be the scene of a pretty wedding this evening when their only child, Miss Helen McGee, and Mr. Herbert Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Miller, of 1620 Washington boulevard west, will be married at half past 8 o'clock. Rev. H. B. Master will be the officiating minister. Miss Virginia Olds will be bridesmaid and the groom's brother, Edmund Miller, will be groomsmen. Music will be furnished by Mrs. C. A. Horton, harpist, Henry Simon, violinist, and Mrs. George Bailey, soprano. The guests include intimate friends and relatives. Out of town guests of the bride's relatives will include Mrs. Dana Bolton, of Winona Lake, and Mrs. F. G. Herford, of Pittsburgh. Miss Ethelyn Smith, of Muncie, Fred Sale, of Bluffton, and Archibald Olds, of Crawfordsville, are particular friends of the bride and groom who are here for the nuptials. In the diningroom (this evening) will be intimate friends of the bride, Misses Irma Poole, Constance Kepfinger, Ruth Caldwell and Edna Helt, who will assist in serving the callitron.

Mrs. G. M. Sauer, of Bellevue, O., is here on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. J. S. West, of Lake avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Griffin and son have returned from a trip to New York city.

Mrs. A. O. Waterman has been called to Seattle, Mass., by the illness of her father.

Mrs. Fred M. Graham, of Chicago, is making a visit here with Miss Maude E. Gardner and other friends.

Mrs. A. M. Groves has as her guest her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Fulton, of Huntington.

Mrs. Emil Bank, of Dayton, Ohio, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Ida Rothchild, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson, of West

Berry street, are entertaining their son, John from Paducah, Ky.

The ladies of the Dywki club will meet at the suburban home of Mrs. Egman, south of the city, on Wednesday afternoon.

There will be a meeting of the Woman's committee of Hope hospital at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the hospital parlors.

Miss Anita Dorr has returned from a visit in Swanton, Ohio, with Miss Jane Marshall, who has returned here to remain all winter.

Mrs. T. F. Butler has returned to Indianapolis after visiting her mother, Mrs. Catherine Summers, of Douglas avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Curdes are going to Indianapolis tomorrow, where Mr. Curdes has business matters to attend to, and from there will make a pleasure trip to West Baden and French Lick.

Mrs. Nathan Erber, who has been with her mother, Mrs. Strass, of Ewing street, for some time, is going to St. Louis, Mo., soon to reside, as Mr. Erber is to make that city his headquarters.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Schwartz, of South Lafayette street, are going to Oden, Mich., this week for a month's outing at the Vail cottage. Mrs. Schwartz was Miss Aline Vail.

Mrs. Ray Whittem and little daughter, Betty, of Salt Lake, City, Utah, were visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Tuckey, of 238 East Butler street, have returned home.

Misses Lucile Vail and Ethel Rowan entertained thirty young people in Weaver park last evening at a steak party with other equally tempting good things to eat that would be considered just right for a steak supper.

Mrs. Alva J. Gill and daughter, Josephine, of Manila, P. I., who are spending the summer here with Mrs. A. F. Miles, Mrs. Gill's sister, have gone to the southern part of the state to remain this week.

The Baith Trio, George Baith, pianist and director, Gaston Baith, violinist, and Emmeran Stoebel, cellist, played before an audience of university representatives in Chicago on Saturday, with a view of securing engagements to play at Northwestern, Michigan, Indiana, North and South Dakota and Wisconsin universities during the coming season. The work of the trio was highly commended and a number of engagements will follow.

Eight years old on Monday was the reason little Hulda Lena Irohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Irohn, of Anthony boulevard, entertained a company of small friends in the evening at her home. The yard in the rear of the residence was lighted by electric lights so that the children could play games, sing, visit and altogether have all the fun they wanted. Besides, the moon did her best to light up the scene and help the children have a good time. A birthday cake and other nice refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm and Mrs. J. Judd were older people who enjoyed Hulda Lena's party. The children were Dorothy Howard, Jane Wass, Esther Haypert, Ada Judd, Arlene Madelon, Frances Vanders, Ethel Leedy, Warda Worman, Florence and Bessie Cartwright, Emma and Esther Linenger, Luella Bowers, Irma Blauvelt, Mildred Carrier, Velma Veltz, Dorothy and Mildred Wass, Madeline Lighthill, Russell Malcolm.

Children must go to school, even though half the world is at war, and they must be neatly dressed, even though "mother's" allowance is cut down and the buying power of money greatly reduced.

Under these circumstances "mother" very wisely looks over the clothes left from last year to see if there isn't something that can be remodeled into pinafores, waists or little skirts for the children's school wear.

It is very easy to make a little Oliver Twist costume out of old material. The top of an old navy blue skirt that is ragged about the bottom can be made to do duty for the skirt, and the simple, little, white or gingham waists can easily be fashioned from old blouse waists. The "style" of these dresses is in the short, double-breasted waist to the skirt. The skirt is buttoned.

The children were dressed in this fashion in the time that Dickens wrote his immortal stories. Consequently they are dubbed Oliver Twist.

The Pinafore. These little dresses may be made from "big sister's" discarded gowns. They are made in a kind of pinafore style, with a long waist belted about the hips. They are made with very large sleeve holes and a deep point in front and back. This is worn over a white gingham which allows the wearing out of all the half-worn waists.

An old black serge skirt with a white house and bright red tie would make "Little Miss" eight-year-old look as though she had a new dress straight from the best child's dress-maker in town.

Using Two Materials. Two half-worn waist dresses may be made into one pretty little frock for a schoolgirl by combining part of an old gingham gown with another of white. The illustration shows the quaint way in which the gingham is used.

This way also makes the dress keep clean longer.

Fort Wayne Paper Goods company, and with his bride will reside in Fort Wayne.

Boley-Ball. Rev. Dr. A. K. Zartman officiated at the marriage of Miss Josephine Ball and Mr. John M. Boley on Monday evening at 8 o'clock, at the parsonage of Grace Reformed church. The bridegroom is a cigarmaker. The bride and groom both live in Erie street.

TO OPEN NEW DANCING STUDIO. Ross Franklin to Be Assisted by Miss Larimore in the "Casino."

"Ross Franklin, who has been a leading pianist for Marion dances for a number of years, will leave Monday for Fort Wayne, where he will have his own dancing academy, to be known as the "Casino." The Casino was formerly known as the Harker Dancing academy. The new Casino will be formally opened next Thursday evening, Kent Gage, harpist, will assist on the opening evening. The regular orchestra for the academy will be Ross Franklin, pianist; Frank Wilson, of Alexandria, who will play the drums; Henry Simon, well known violinist, and Clarence McCleery, of Muncie, saxophone. Mr. McCleery played with the Bohemian Kyrl band. Miss Muriel Larimore, of Fort Wayne, has been engaged as instructor of the modern society dances. Miss Larimore has made a success of teaching dances and studies every summer in New York or Chicago dance studios. A number of Marion people will go to Fort Wayne Thursday for the opening dance." Marion Leader-Tribune.

Miss Larimore, class in fancy dancing Friday, 4:30 p. m. 220 W. Berry street.

AT THE MAJESTIC. Sousa and His Great Band Wednesday, Matinee and Night.

The Sousa library is the accumulation of thirty years or more, a getting together of the greater and lesser products of composers of all time an degress, from the first down to the last. Nobody knows how many arrangements there are, multiple parts of each composition, but the number is so great that several large music rooms are required to house them. It may be inferred from this that when John Philip Sousa squares himself to make out programs for a tour, he has a colossal undertaking before him.

If left altogether to his own inclinations it is possible that Sousa would serve very little except of the highest and best, but inasmuch as the people come to his concerts with their diverse tastes to be gratified, he is compelled to approach as nearly as possible to a point where he pleases the preferences of the majority. In accomplishing this, Sousa has for years proved himself past master.

Sousa and his band will appear at the Majestic on Wednesday, matinee and night, in a delightful program. The special soloists are Miss Virginia Root, soprano, and Miss Margaret Gluck, violinist, and Herbert L. Clark, cornetist.

AT THE TEMPLE. Musical Stars Coming.

Recently there has been a trend toward the more refined in vaudeville entertainment. Some have declared that there is no place for the classical on the American variety stage; people, they say, don't appreciate the high quality of art. They want the melodramatic and slapstick kind, but Guerrero and Carmen, who are slated for an engagement at the Temple Thursday, in a high class musical act, offering violin and harp solos and duets, are prepared to illustrate that art not only is tolerated in vaudeville but that it is popular and is in demand. Scheduled under the direction of some of the best masters in Europe, both Mr. Guerrero and Miss Carmen have been educated to the highest there is in music and their exceptional success in American vaudeville.

AT THE EMPRESS. It is a lively, snappy, wholly entertaining bill that the Empress is delighting its patrons with at the present time. Marcena and DeLong Brothers, wonderful acrobats, are presenting the headline act. Rouair and Ward have a strikingly refreshing act in "Ocean Breezes," a breath from Atlantic City. Princeton and Yale also have a crackjack sketch in "Six Hundred Miles From New York," in which Jack Princeton, who is described as "The Daniel Webster of slang," pushes forth the very latest in language.

War photos are shown in the Hearst-Selig news pictorial and are a big hit with the audiences.

THE ORPHEUM.

"TREY O' HEARTS."

Fourth installment of Serial Today at Orpheum.

"Dead Reckoning," the fourth installment of the thrilling spectacular serial, "Trey O' Hearts," will be the attraction at the Orpheum today.

In the last part of the third installment, Alan and Barcus, the skipper, escaped from the burning yacht by swimming ashore. The opening of the fourth installment finds them exhausted on the beach. Rose is taken from the hotel in Portland and rushed aboard the fishing schooner where Judith locks her in a stateroom. Having made Rose secure, Judith takes the fisher men and goes ashore to get Alan and Barcus. But the men see the party coming and hide. While the party is some distance inland, the two men come out of their hiding place and steal the fisherman's boat and go to the schooner in which they endeavor to escape. Judith and the fishermen break into a life-saving station and take a launch and try to overtake the schooner. The remaining chapters of the installment are among the most spectacular ever filmed.

A Victor drama, entitled, "The Proof of a Man," with J. Warren Kerrigan in the leading role, will also be on the program today. It is a story full of heart interest telling the love story of a gang leader and a cripple and shows that even a cripple can rise to the strength of true manhood.

The program tomorrow consists of an Eclair drama, entitled, "The Line Rider," with Edna Payne and Robert Frazer heading the cast and "The Baseball Fans of Fanville," a Joker comedy. Pleasing music will be rendered by the orchestra and Miss Lyons soprano.

Beginners' Dancing class forms Wednesday, 8 p. m. Trier's, Minuet.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

ROBERT WARWICK.

Famous Legitimate Star Today and Tomorrow in "The Dollar Mark."

Robert Warwick, debonair, dashing, acting with a fiery ardor that exhilarates, comes to the Jefferson today in the first of the Shubert and Brady releases, "The Dollar Mark." This thrilling drama, depicting life in the rough Cuban country and in the fashionable salons of Newport, is the George Broadhurst masterpiece that carried Warwick through several successful seasons some years back. The dramatic heights reached in several passages of the story thrill the onlooker with the power of their sheer force; the sustained potency of this film-story being one of the most distinguishing features; it is all too seldom that we find such plot coherence and clarity exhibited in film-drama, and the high dramatic pitch maintained throughout "The Dollar Mark," distinguishes this as one of the most significant successes of the season. The circumstances are productive of some of the most thrilling situations ever incorporated in a drama of this nature. Each thrill is succeeded by another of tender nature, while the final denouement is a superb piece of acting.

Coffee Hurt You?

No need to get mad now, tear up the paper, or shout "nonsense, good coffee never hurt anyone."

You know better than that, for you can point out all around you folks who are the worse for coffee's slugging.

Think over a few coffee-drinking friends and casually enquire if they are entirely and perfectly well and just how coffee treats them.

If it hurts others isn't it just possible?

Catch the drift, don't you?

In fact after having studied the matter a bit it will become plain that if you are a coffee-drinker the chances are that some form of nervousness, sleeplessness, heart flutter or others of the well-proven coffee ills, one can refuse to hug the thing squarely in the face and peg along with the coffee.

Some day Nature will haul him up short.

to swap health and a clear, business-like head for a few cups of coffee each day.

Every coffee toper tries to wiggle round and charge his aches and ills to weather, overwork, too much or too little food, this, that or the other thing, but how he hates to admit that the real enemy is his Master, coffee.

A Sure Personal Test

will locate the exact cause of your steady destruction of health, if that cause be coffee. It's worth knowing the plain, sober fact before organic heart trouble or other disease sets in, which perhaps cannot be cured.

The test is pleasant, accurate and satisfying—

Quit coffee absolutely for ten days and in its place use POSTUM.

Postum now comes in two forms. Regular Postum must be boiled. Instant Postum—soluble form made in the cup instantly, with hot water. Both kinds of this famous food-drink have the color and flavor very much like the high grades of Old Gov't Java.

If in a few days you begin to sleep soundly at night, digest food better, stomach, bowels, show signs of recovery, or the old feeling of weakness at the heart leaves, or head works clearer, (the aids of coffee drugging are multitudinous) the facts will be before you, and

POSTUM

BIG GUNS OF BRITISH WAR SHIP READY FOR ENEMY TO APPROACH

BRITISH WARSHIPS IN NORTH SEA CLEARED FOR ACTION

Above is shown the big guns on one of Britain's dreadnoughts now lying in the North Sea ready for an attack by the German fleet. Travellers arriving in London from Kiel state the canal is crowded with German war ships, including the largest battle ships, and that the arsenal is busy day and night. Trains are continuously carrying large guns to the canal for the big German cruisers and dreadnoughts to complete the armament of these great sea fighters, which England believes will soon engage the British fleet in a big open battle.

Late Tuesday afternoon sixteen of the boards from Fort Wayne and Allen county had failed as yet to make returns of the registrations Monday and no figures were available from Madison township. Without these it is shown that 10,510 voters registered bringing the total for the two days to 20,986 with the possibility that they will reach 21,000.

This is allowing slightly less than 400 in Madison. The total voting strength of the county is estimated by people in position to know at more than 22,000 and if this is reliable there are nearly a thousand who have been disfranchised by their failure to register.

There is also the possibility that some of the precincts held over Tuesday which is permissible under the law on petition of three free holders and seven voters but if this action was taken in any of the polling places no notice was sent to the auditor. The petitions are valid when presented to and granted by the boards and no appeal to any other officers is required.

Former official registration figures have been destroyed as it is not required under the law that they be kept longer than sixty days after the election for which they are taken is held, but official comparisons show a slight decrease.

There was no trouble reported except in the first precinct of the first ward where a dispute arose when W. J. Swaidner objected to closing the books. The unofficial figures are as follows:

37 DAYS IN FIGHT
WITHOUT A PAUSE

London, Oct. 6.—(8:40 a. m.)—The correspondent of the Daily News at Copenhagen telegraphs the following: "Vivid accounts of the fighting appear in the German newspapers and the writers admit that the situation is desperate. 'The Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, describing the frontier fighting in the Vosges region, says: 'The officers and men have been fighting day and night for thirty-seven days and the Germans are facing a difficult strategic situation in the mountain districts, where they are rendering superhuman services, chiefly in water filled trenches and under almost undecipherable conditions. 'The strain is said to be almost unendurable. The French are fortified in excellent positions on the Vosges and it is impossible to see their guns. No Ger-

GIVE WARNING
TO MEXICANS

Washington, Oct. 6.—Brigadier General Bliss, commanding the American troops on the Mexican border, expressed the opinion in a dispatch today, that Gov. Maytorena's assault of Gen. Huert, the Carranza leader in Sonora, would not occur within a week, though Maytorena's forces invest the east, south and west of Naco.

Gen. Bliss added that Col. Guilfoyle, the American commander opposite Naco, has the situation well in hand, that warning has been given to the Mexican factions not to endanger American life and property by their fire. Reports to the Spanish embassy from Mexico City today gave assurances that Spanish citizens there no longer were in danger from constitutionalists. Previous to the entrance of the Carranzistas into Mexico City, decidedly pessimistic messages were received in Washington and Madrid and it was feared the Spanish colony would suffer. Consular Agent Walls, however, has established friendly relations with the new authorities and secured satisfactory guarantees. Officials at the embassy stated that while no further reports of indignities toward priests had been received, it was known that the constitutionalist program of elimination of foreign clergy was being consistently tried out.

This new firm will open the new store with a determination to stay and will operate it in such a way as to please the public. The exact date of the opening can as yet not be determined.

WOMAN IS FINED.
Goldie Smith, the woman arrested near Mayeville, where she had been consorting with men of the neighborhood greatly to the scandal of respectable folk, was arraigned for drunkenness before Justice Grabner Tuesday and fined $1 and costs. Other charges were dismissed. She is aged 32 years, and says her home is in the state of Washington.

SEEKING TO CHECK
RUSSIAN ADVANCE

London, Oct. 6.—8:26 a. m.—Speaking of the Russian invasion of Hungary a dispatch from Rome to the Exchange Telegraph company says: "According to Hude, Pest advises the capture of Marmaros-Sziget, capital of the Hungarian county of Marmaros, has necessitated the removal of the government of that department to Huzel, 28 miles west-northwest of Sziget. A second Russian army now threatens the latter city and reinforcements are being hurried up to check the Russians' advance."

Marmaros, the county in Hungary which the Russians have invaded through the Carpathian passes, is in the northeast, bordering on Galicia, Bukovina and the Transylvania.

INQUIRIES ABOUT DIRIGIBLES.
Washington, Oct. 6.—Inquiries are being sent out by the navy department to builders of airships as to their preparedness to construct dirigible balloons if the navy should decide to adopt that kind of air craft. No bids have been asked for, as it has not yet been decided that the navy which up to the present has confined its aerial work to aeroplanes, is ready to turn to dirigibles. Officials desire to ascertain, however, what may be expected of American airship builders in the way of quality, size and price.

DIDN'T HAVE GREEN CAP.

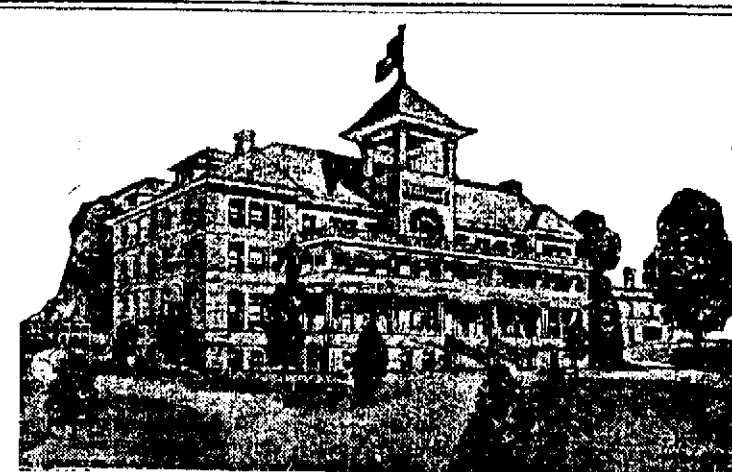

Error By University of Wisconsin Student Causes a Riot.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 6. Students of the University of Wisconsin tried to throw a town boy into Lake Mendota last night, mistaking him for a fellow student and precipitated a street fight in which 300 students battled with as many citizens for hours. For an hour the city fire department poured streams of water into the crowd without dispersing the fighters.

C. R. VanHise, president of the university, gave bond for the four students who were arrested and addressed the 1,500 students who surrounded the police station, finally persuading them to return to their homes. Hundreds of windows, including nearly all in the police station, were broken. The students whose mistake started the fight, said they attempted to discipline the town boy because they mistook him for a freshman without his green cap. Custom at the university decrees a green cap for freshmen.

IN FIVE MINUTES NO SICK STOMACH, INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" is the quickest and surest Stomach Relief.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth, and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent boxes of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs and indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city has many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this epidemic stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gas, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.

SHOOT THE SPY!

German Lead Pencil and "German Time" at Brussels Show Terrible Results of Small Blunders in Operations of War-Time Spy.

—PART II—

(Copyright, 1914, by the Newspaper

Liege, and the villages in the valleys of the Meuse and the Ourthe were as open books to me. While selling lace for my uncle I had walked over the country frequently, and, because of my knowledge of the people, I had not infrequently been detailed there in my services for the country. We, of the service, often had spoken of Liege as "The Key."

We of the spy service know little of the plans of the military. We are sent to acquire certain information; and to plan campaigns or battles. Others do that. But often, when one or two of us met, we talked of war. In all my years of service I know now fewer than a dozen others in the same service, and most of them by accident.

I have been only three times in the headquarters of the service in the Wilhelmstrasse, Berlin. In Berlin I, with three others, lived in a house which was under care of a woman, old now, but for years one of the most trusted agents. In Paris and elsewhere also we have such agents.

It happened one day the wife's brother, a Belgian-German family, was a market gardener in the valley but seven miles (English) from Liege. It was to him I went when I learned that Austria and Serbia were at war, and that all Europe was springing to arms. I arranged quickly that his family should go to Berlin. I gave him directions. "He was to pretend to have sold to me his crop and I was to pose as the silly goose (ganschen) and he the sharper (Ruger) who had sold me the crop, knowing war was near." Also he was to come each night to the garden and take away a bag of cabbage and vegetables and deliver them to a house in Aix, from whence, I knew, word could reach Wilhelmstrasse.

It was not that I expected the attack upon Liege. Even then I could not believe "The Great War" was coming. But Liege was my way to report. So, as a market man, I rode into Liege, and bargained in the market place, helping housewives made bargains that day. They laughed at me as a simpleton when my boots and cap were sold at a penny less than at the next stall. They were all talking then of war, and I walked through the town before starting home.

This was before a German soldier's foot had touched Belgium, before even the armies were moved, yet already French officers and one English were there.

I visited wine shops and after dark crept and walked around the city of the forts. Much work was going on and new soldiers were there.

Messages on Cabbage Leaves.

It was midnight when I reached my cottage and my relative was waiting. I made him wait and went into another room.

Writing on the inside of one of the outer leaves of a cabbage in the code I sent word to Berlin of Liege's activity. Then I drew the outer leaf back upon the cabbage head, placed it in the bag, with other vegetables and sent my relative away. All he knew was he must discover a certain man in Aix, and hand him the cabbage and pull from it the outer leaf.

For four days I was in the market, and for four nights sent the cabbage, reporting all I saw of importance. French officers were numerous in the city, and were with the Belgians. I saw no more English. The whole valley was swarming with troops, and gossip was free in the market. All talked of war, and I heard much of value concerning numbers of troops, and the building of new works and strengthening of old.

The day word came that the war actually had started Liege was as a madhouse. It was easy to get news. We in the market knew of the arrival of each troop as they came from Brussels and Antwerp. Servants told us of orders to flee. That day I was in despair. To remain was to be driven, herded, with the citizens out of the city—and made useless.

I thought of a plan. The cry, "The Germans are coming," was raised everywhere. Families by the score were flying toward Brussels and to the south. The rumor said the French were coming; that a great battle would be at Liege. I had information I must send. Perhaps my relative could not get past the advancing German troops. In the midst of all the turmoil I set up a great bowl and howled and wept until those near me laughed. I waited over my losses and cursed the "German swindler" who had sold me his crop. I kept it up until a Belgian officer broke through the laughing crowd and demanded to know the cause of the uproar.

I waited and wept and told him I must get back home to my wife and family before the Germans came. He told me, none could leave the city that way. I waited until he relented and wrote a pass that I might go. I whipped my cart doukey and, still howling, went away. That night I wrote a message on a cabbage leaf and told my relative to meet me no more.

At daybreak I entered Liege again, sitting on top of a load of vegetables, and pretending great grief.

My day was extremely busy. I complained everywhere of my misfortunes and of being robbed, and continually sought officials demanding pay for my stolen property. Likewise I was seeing much of the disposition of the forces. Also I discovered that neither French nor British forces were arriving a few officers and one small detachment of French engineers.

Branded as a Spy!

Constantly there were reports that the French were coming and very brave talk—but no soldiers. Troops and some guns arrived from Brussels and several covered guns that looked to be for aeroplane work. My mind was busy with details.

On how slender a thread does the life of a man in our service hang. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon I was directed in appeal to a Belgian official and present my claims to him. I maintained my assigned (real) acting. I found him giving orders near the Longouze station. He was very brusque and very busy. "Fool!" he said angrily. "You lose little, we lose perhaps all." I clung to him and wept.

"Foolhead," he said, "to rid myself of you I will write an order that you be paid something. Give me a pencil."

"I have a pencil, excellency," I said—and handed him one.

The moment I gave the pencil to him I knew I had blundered. He looked at it an instant, glanced at me and said sharply, "Where did you get this?"

"I—I found it, mission," I said.

It was a German pencil, made in Berlin and marked.

"Take him to the commandant," he ordered. "Search him."

They searched and found only a few pennies, the key to the cottage, my order for payment for the vegetables, and my watch. As I saw them look at the watch I trembled.

"A spy," he said.

My watch was set the German time. I wept and protested my innocence. They dragged me away. The crowd booed and threatened me. In one hour I was before a court of three officers—all too busy to spend much time in shooting, one man. They looked at the watch, the pencil, searched me for papers, found nothing, consulted a few minutes and ordered me shot.

I played my part as simpleton more realistically than I really was frightened. The jury had come so quickly it seemed unreal, and there was little time to prepare for dying. I pretended utmost terror and purposely feigned belief that they were killing me for stealing the watch and pencil.

They were taking me away when the big officer who had been kind to me in the market the preceding day, came up. "Ho," he said, recognizing me, "what's this?"

I begged him to save me and the others explained.

Under his orders I was led back. He spoke with the other officers and looked at the watch and the pencil.

Lands Data in German Camp!

"I know the man," he said. "He is a poor fool I allowed to go home yesterday. Perhaps he can tell me about these things."

"Where did you get them?" he asked, turning to me.

"Oh, mission," I said. "Save me. They think I stole them and would shoot me for it. I found them."

"See," he said to the others. "He knows not what you accuse him of. You found these, where?"

Again I feigned great fear and trembling and would not answer. Speaking truth I was thinking of some explanation. "Tell me or they will shoot you," he said sternly.

"I tried to imitate the cunning look I have seen some of the peasants give in trading."

"I would tell your excellency aside," I said.

He led me aside.

"The German rascal who robbed me," I whispered. "I stole them from him when he left the cottage."

He roared with laughter, and when he told the others they laughed heartily. The big captain ordered me to go and keep out of trouble. I thanked him and made a scene until he pushed me from the room.

At 8 o'clock that night I crossed the Meuse near the Cockerill iron works, in Seraing, below the forts, and made my way rapidly toward Aix. Before daylight I met the outposts of a German cavalry camp. From there I was hastened toward Aix in an automobile and, before breakfast, I forwarded a complete code report, and under orders remained until noon drawing maps of Liege, its forts, the disposition of troops and giving other data to officers.

Then I was permitted to rest, having been nearly seventy hours without sleep.

LAUGH HEARTILY AND EAT WHAT YOU WANT, SAYS ARTIST OF 94

ALBAN JASPER CONANT

Alban Jasper Conant, who painted the famous "Smiling Lincoln" and who in the meantime of his career as an artist painted Henry Ward Beecher, Dr. James McCosh and John Gilbert, the actor, recently celebrated his ninety-fourth birthday, and to the friends who gathered about the punch bowl that had been provided in his home, in New York city, he gave his recipe for hale and hearty old age. The artist is so perfect an exemplification of his doctrine—his friends predict that he will pass the century mark—that they were particularly interested in his directions how to attain long life. Mr. Conant was a practicing physician before he became a painter. Two things stand out in Mr. Conant's advice. One is to laugh heartily and the other is to eat the things one most relishes. In accounting for his own longevity the artist refers to a third cause—the splendid constitution which he acquired when a youth working on a Vermont farm.

How to Have the Best Cough Remedy and Save $2 by Making It at Home

Cough medicines, as a rule contain a large quantity of pinch syrup. A pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, stirred for 2 minutes, gives you as good syrup as money can buy.

Then get from your druggist 2 1/2 ounces Pinex (50 cents worth), pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with sugar syrup. This gives you, at a cost of only 54 cents, a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50—a clear saving of nearly $2. Full directions with Pinex. It keeps perfectly and tastes good.

It takes hold of the nasal cough or chest cold at once and conquers it in 24 hours. Splendid for whooping cough, bronchitis and winter coughs.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals and soothes the inflamed membrane in the case of a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with glycerol, and has been used for generations to heal inflamed membranes of the throat and chest.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, is given with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

and James Morton, High Morton, Frank Morton, George Morton and their families, of Poe.

The Junior C. E. society was well represented Sunday afternoon at the district C. E. convention held at the Grace Reformed church in Fort Wayne. The young people went in autos driven by Rev. F. K. Baker, Dr. E. W. Dwyer, Arthur Roe, Donaldson Wilson, G. G. Glass, G. A. Morton and Will Hooper.

Thirty or more of the junior members accompanied by the Misses Lulu Summers, Beth Chaffant, Augusta Yager, Augusta Fatscher, Ruby Quakenbush, Phoebe Summers, Alida Woods, Mary Morton, May Weaver and Mrs. George Glass, who took her class of Daniel Boys along. These boys sang at the convention and received hearty praise for their good work.

Stop Those Early Bronchial Coughs.

They hang on all winter if not checked, and pave the way for serious throat and lung diseases. Get a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and take it freely. Stops coughs and colds, heals raw inflamed throat, loosens the phlegm and is mildly laxative. Chas. T. Miller, Ed. Enquirer, Cincinnati, Ind., had bronchial trouble, got very hoarse, coughed constantly from a tickling throat. He used only Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Was entirely relieved. Wants others to know of Foley's Honey and Tar.—Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

TOY TRANSFORMERFort Wayne Electric Works
Adds Another to Its Products.

A new product of the Fort Wayne Electric works to be issued in a week or two is a toy transformer for use during the holiday season. It can be attached to the chandelier at any home and when connected with a toy locomotive, street car, passenger or freight train, or any other toy vehicle provided with a motor, will make them run over the floor as any desirable speed. This transformer is designed to take the place of the storage batteries formerly used for that purpose. The new method possesses the merit of always being in operating condition, which cannot be said of the storage battery system. For demonstrating purposes the transformer department at the lights have two toy trains, with locomotive and cars, a perfect reproduction in miniature of the genuine article.

CITY LIGHT PUTS UP NEW RECORD

Net Gain of 239 New Services for September Shows the Drift.

During September all monthly record gains were smashed by the city light and power works when a net gain of 239 new services was made. The best previous month was last March, when a net gain of 209 new services was the exhibit. The March figures were considered remarkable, for they surpassed any record made even during the period when the city rate was 8 cents and the traction company was still maintaining its 10-cent rate. The September record shows a rapid drift to support of the municipal lighting plant, which has twice within a short time cut the rates for the people of Fort Wayne. Since January 5, 1914, when Secretary John Wessel took charge of the city light and power department there has been a net gain of 1,071 services.

Since January 5 the gain in cash receipts by the municipal lighting department have not fallen below 51 per cent in any one month, while the maximum monthly gain has been 71 per cent. The average for the nine months has exceeded 60 per cent.

Secretary Wessel has called a meeting for tonight of all the heads of departments in the city light and power works to discuss the appropriations of each department for 1915. Important plans for the extension and improvement of the municipal electric service are being worked out and the purpose is to take these matters up this early in order that every detail may be thoroughly considered, every need properly met and every possible contingency thoroughly provided for.

One of the subjects to be discussed at the meeting will be an electric circuit to relieve some of the arc circuits that are carrying an overload and at the same time will establish a trunk that can be worked from either into or out from the city and will serve the rapidly developing territory in the boulevard regions.

The city light and power offices have been completely installed in the new quarters in the Rabus property, recently purchased for that purpose, and within a short time everything will be arranged to the liking of Secretary Wessel and his staff and for the entire convenience of the public. An electric sign will be placed at once on the front of the building with the announcement, "German spoken here."

WABASH READY TO BEGIN.

Will Start Work Wednesday on Taylor Street Elevation.

Following a conference Tuesday, when Mayor Hoxey met with Division Engineer W. S. Dames, of the Wabash railroad, Mr. Crider, of the Carmichael & Crider Construction company, it was settled that the construction company should begin work Tuesday morning on the Taylor street track elevation work. The Carmichael & Crider company is doing the Wabash work here and will start in to install permanent work at the Taylor street subway and it is believed that thoroughfare can be completed under the elevation this fall.

It was also promised that next Tuesday the Wabash would begin the work of placing the gigantic concrete slabs for the Harrison street elevation. If works on the road do not interfere with the extension of the big wrecking cranes, with which the slabs will be placed, the work will take about four days. By the beginning of the following week the pilings can be removed and the work of paving the subway started.

PLANS A SIGNAL FOR STATION.

Mayor Hoxey is working on the plan for an electric signal device to be installed at waterworks pumping station No. 1, that will automatically apprise those on duty at any time of day or night when the big reservoir on Lafayette street, is filled to its capacity. This would forestall any such contingency as overumping. A new gauge is being installed at the reservoir to replace the one that several weeks ago failed to work and allowed the reservoir to be overfilled. Mayor Hoxey thinks the new gauge can be supplemented with a device that will signal the pumping station when enough water has been pumped.

BUILDING BRIDGE APPROACHES.

Superintendent Strudel, of the street and sewer department of the department of public works, is directing the work of a gang of men and teams now engaged in building approaches to the Fourth street bridge over Spy Run. It is expected that the county commissioners will set about the construction of the bridge as soon as the city completes the approaches.

MAY LEASE GOLF COURSE.

The board of park commissioners probably will secure a lease of the White property in the east end to be used as a public golf course. This is the plan most in favor and one that promises the greater economy. A site north of McKinzie avenue and east of Anthony boulevard has been considered, but the development of that section may put a prohibitive rental on the property. The matter was discussed informally at Saturday's meeting of the board.

NEW HOME IS OCCUPIED.

The city light and power department established itself completely in its new home in the old Rabus property, east of the city hall, Monday, and all business relating to that department will now be transacted in the new quarters. Secretary Wessel and his office staff have moved their official belongings to the new place and this month and hereafter the rates for city current will be payable.

SATISFIED WITH RETURNS OF DAY

Political Workers Are Much Pleased With Registration Showing.

At headquarters of the democratic, progressive and republican parties on Tuesday there was a general air of satisfaction with the returns from the registration of Monday.

"I firmly believe that the democrats got ninety-five per cent. of the vote," said Chairman W. A. Johnson, "and the general figures will bear me out in this."

"In addition to the returns made to the county auditor workers in the city and county say that comparatively few democrats failed to take advantage of the last registration day and we are pretty well satisfied."

"We are checking up today," said Lew P. Sharp, republican chairman, "and we find that the party turned out in good shape as only in a few cases were we unable to get out the full voting strength."

"In the city the registration was a little late but last night those who had not been accounted for were hunted up and most of them responded to the call."

At progressive headquarters there was the same story of the work and although no great amount of personal work was done the voters went to the registration booths without persuasion and the leaders believe they will be able to show some gains at the polls next month.

Political Notes.

A big crowd is expected at Chubbuck on the night of October 16, when Congressman E. D. Crumpacker, of the Tenth Indiana district, will be the principal speaker. Miles J. Furness and Charles R. Lane will also be on the program. Other republican meetings scheduled are at Albion on Tuesday night and at LaOtto Wednesday night.

Some of the democrats from the eastern portion of the county are arranging to hear W. J. Bryan in his speech at Van Wert on Thursday night.

A beautiful wedding party had Miss Alice M. Burns, who was united in marriage at the Cathedral this morning to Mr. John G. Hilker. The nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. J. R. Quinlan at 9 o'clock. The bride entered with her father who gave her away and attending her were her sister, Miss Anna Burns, who was maid of honor, and Misses Helen Mommer, Grace Barva and Gertrude Hagan who were bridesmaids. Mr. Hilker, a brother to the groom, was best man. The bride's attendants were gowned to carry out the effect of a rainbow wedding. The bride wore a beautiful gown of broadened crepe de chine and satin made with a court train and handsomely trimmed with pearls and ornaments. The bride wore a veil made in cap effect and held with a cluster of swansons blossoms while her white prayerbook had white ribbons and swansons. Miss Anna Burns was gowned in pink crepe veiled in lavender chiffon. She wore a small wreath in her hair and her flowers were pink roses. Miss Mommer was gowned in Nile green and her flowers were white roses. Miss Barva represented the yellow tone in flowers and gown and Miss Hagan the pink color. Each of the bridesmaids wore a tiny wreath in her hair and all presented a beautiful ap-

HEAVY FINE FOR A FILTHY BEAST

Young Ladies Prove Loren Scott Had Repeatedly Given Offense.

Half a dozen young women who work in the knitting mills appeared in the city court Tuesday morning and by their testimony convicted Loren Scott, a young married man, who resides on East Pontiac street, of indecent offenses, and he was fined $50 and costs.

The man has two young children to support, which was a reason, the court stated, for not sending him to jail. Scott is in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad company and it is a part of his duty to go every morning to the flowing well in Swinney park and get a supply of water for the railway of fies.

The young ladies who work in the knitting mills go to and from work through the park. They reported to Chief of Police Lantz that a man in charge of a water wagon had made a practice of indecently exposing himself to them and that the offense had been repeated many times. Chief Lenz ordered Patrolmen Felber and Ellyson to go in plain clothes to the park Tuesday morning and watch. They did not see Scott repeat his offense, but the six young ladies unanimously identified him as the man of whom they had complained and he was arrested. His only defense was that whatever had shocked the young ladies was the consequence of accident and not of intent.

Held for Grand Jury.

Al Cook, who already has a criminal record, was given a hearing on a charge of grand larceny and bound over to the circuit court with his bond fixed at $1,000, which he could not furnish. It was charged that on Sunday, September 27, he had stolen a suit of clothes, valued at $150, the savings of a summer's work. Contin is employed as a cement worker by Freeman Hensinger, 214 First street, a foreman for the City and Suburban Realty company, and boards with his employer.

At the time of the loss of the money Cook was also employed by the same man and slept in his barn. On the Sunday of the robbery, the family all left home and Cook gave the old man whisky at the barn, and according to the victim's story, went with him into the house, which he ransacked. The stolen money was kept in an improvised trunk along with Contin's other belongings. Cook denied having had anything but sour wine and still more emphatically denied that he was in the house at all. On both points he was flatly impeached. Contin says that in addition to the $140 taken from the trunk, $6 was stolen from his pockets while he slept. Cook was convicted here for a robbery several years ago and previous to that was convicted for robbery in Kalamazoo.

Other City Court Cases.

Jack Casson and Pete Robinson ambled along Superior street until they reached Ewing street. Jack fell down and broke his gut if not his crown, and when Pete tried to assist him to rise fell across him and neither could get up. In this plight Officer Laughlin found them shortly after daylight Tuesday morning and sent them in for being drunk. They were continued until Wednesday.

Ike Burns, who has been working up in Cedar Creek township, came in Monday to register, which he did with several white-aproned inspectors and judges and clerks. Then he went into a Clinton street saloon and was made fifty, fell asleep in the chair, could not be aroused and was turned over to the police. He was let go on his promise not to come back to town until all the corn in Cedar Creek was in shock.

Herman Driftmeyer and Charles Dond, drunks, were turned loose, and Jerry Finnie, Pat O'Connor, John Bond and Mike Harkensider, drunks, were continued until Wednesday under $25 bond each, none of them being sober enough to be put on trial.

Frank Smith, James Wilson and Joe Riley were booked for loitering and continued until Saturday under $100 bond each. The trio had been hanging around for two or three days in the vicinity of

FALL BULBS NOW READY

Use a liberal supply of HUMUS in all beds for fall bulbs. It holds moisture, liberates ammonia and phosphorus to the roots, and makes much larger flowers. Call for our booklet on Lawns and how to make and preserve them.

THE FINEST WAY TO PREPARE TOAST IS TO MAKE IT RIGHT ON THE BREAKFAST TABLE

This is the newest American Beauty Toaster

And this shows how to use it

Just think of the novelty and the convenience of sitting down at the breakfast table and taking your toast crisp, brown and hot right from the toaster! Sounds good, doesn't it? The realization is better.

All you have to do to serve toast hot in this novel style is to place the toaster on the table, plug a slice of bread on either side and turn on the electric switch. It makes better toast than you ever ate before and at a moment's notice.

Telephone us and we will send one out. Or, perhaps it would be better to come in and see it. This toaster is only one of many splendid electrical devices for your use.

Heliograph—An instrument for communication in the field used by the signal corps. It consists of either one or two small mirrors, mounted on a strong tripod. By means of screw adjustments it may reflect the light of the sun to a distant station in any direction desired. A shutter made of movable blades and operated by a key exactly similar to a telegraph key controls the reflected rays. The long and short flashes produced correspond to the dots and dashes of the Morse code. With the four-inch mirror generally used, messages have been sent to a distance of eighty miles.

Another effective method of signaling, used when telegraphic communication is impossible, is that with the acetylene lantern, for night work. The lantern is mounted on a heliograph tripod. By means of a tiny pilot flame the main acetylene jet is lighted when a key is depressed. On a favorable night, a range of twenty miles is possible with this lantern.
